W. T. ANDERSON ADMITS CAUSING HOLLER FIGHT

Says He Inspired Discharge of Board Chief. Governor Tells Why He Fired Official.

WALKER WILLING TO BE QUESTIONED

Chief Executive Writes He Is Willing To Give Committee Any Help He Can in Probe.

Admitting that he inspired Governor Clifford Walker to remove John N. Holder as chairman of the state highway board, W. T. Anderson, editor of The Macon Telegraph and former member of the board, Monday spent several hours on the witness stand before the special senate committee which is investigating highway department affairs, explaining the reasons which prompted him in his course.

His testimony virtually amounted to a repetition of his former charges against Chairman Holder, including alleged alteration of minutes, misuse of public funds, secrecy in dealing with padding of payrolls and other charges.

Will Attack Audit.

Sam L. Olive, attorney for the highway board, injected a new element into the probe when he indicated that he later will attempt to show that the private audit made by C. R. Dawson, Atlanta accountant, was irregular. He announced that he would call employees of the highway department and question them as to whether they were subjected to duress in signing various affidavits in the audit containing charges against the chairman.

"I doubt if the men who made the affidavits actually wrote them," he stated.

Mr. Anderson today will undergo cross-examination by Mr. Olive.

It is probable that the committee today will request Governor Walker to appear in person to give his testimony. "This will be decided at a short meeting of the committee this morning."

The committee will visit the East Point shops of the highway department Wednesday to make a personal inspection of the physical aspects of the department.

Mr. Anderson told the committee Monday during the course of testimony that he had been the man who inspired removal of John N. Holder, chairman of the state highway department, by Governor Walker.

Senator Hutchison declared that Mr. Anderson's acts on the board were under investigation just the same as other members of the board, even if he was out of office at the present time. "We want to give all members and ex-members an opportunity to explain their conduct," said Senator Hutchison.

Reading of affidavits by Mr. Anderson was featured by objections of Mr. Olive to the papers as hearsay evidence when the signers of the papers could be produced by the committee. At one time during Monday's

DOGS TRAIL MAN WHO SLEW THREE

Trio Killed and Fourth Wounded When They Told Bandit That They Were "Broke."

Denver, Col., August 3.—(AP)—Bloodhounds tonight were on the trail of a coatless, collarless holdup man, who last night shot and killed three members of a picnic party of four, when they responded to a demand for money with the announcement that they were "broke."

Following a slender clue, centering about an unidentified motorist and a patch of tweed cloth, police today were unsuccessful in their efforts to find the man who slew Miss Marie McCormick, Mrs. Julia Swann, her sister, and Fred Funkner, and wounded Carl Perry, a fourth member of the party.

Details of the slaying were pieced out by officers from the incoherent tale of Perry, who said the bandit leaped on the running board of their automobile as they drove on an outlying boulevard and forced them at the point of a pistol to drive to a secluded lane. There he demanded the money and was told by members of the party that they were broke. He then opened fire with two revolvers, shooting the girls and Funkner through the head and wounding Perry in the arm.

When he realized that the other occupants of the machine were dead, Perry ran for help, he said. During his flight from the car, he told officers he saw the slayer, and then ran in the opposite direction until he came to a house where he summoned aid.

"We never had a chance," he sobbed.

Police declared the slayer undoubtedly was the "petting party bandit," who has made a specialty of holding up motorists parked in the outskirts of Denver, and who recently wounded another couple near the scene of last night's tragedy.

Michael Keller, employer of the two dead women, has posted a reward of $500 for apprehension of the slayer.

Haynes Is Shorn Of All Authority Over Prohibition

FIGHT IS RENEWED ON STATE MARKET BUREAU IN HOUSE

Agricultural Department Row Flares Anew When $3,000 Is Asked for Salary of Bureau Head.

DEBATE CUT SHORT BY ADJOURNMENT

General Appropriations Measure Progress Pleases Leaders as They Begin 7th Week Grind.

The fight on the Georgia state bureau of markets which operates under the department of agriculture, broke out anew on the floor of the house Monday afternoon when the house reached the item in the general appropriations bill appropriating $2,000 annually as salary for L. B. Jackson, director of the bureau.

Several days ago, acting as a committee of the whole, the house eliminated this item. An attempt made Monday to place the salary back in the bill resulted in a heated and extended debate. Debate was in progress when the house adjourned at 5 o'clock until Tuesday morning.

It will probably take all of today, and possibly longer, to complete the appropriation bill and pass it, inasmuch as several other items, which brought extended debate in committee of the whole, are expected to have like effect when reached by the house.

Representative Roy Harris, of Jefferson, who, as chairman of the committee of the whole, was barred from speaking when the bill was first considered, led the fight Monday to restore to the bill the salary item for the director of the bureau of markets.

Pleads For Bureau.

Mr. Harris referred to the law of 1917, creating the bureau of markets, and said the proper way to change it was to amend that law and not try an "underhand method of undermining the department," through cuts in the appropriation bill.

Representative Miller, of Dodge county, in speaking for the amendment, declared that he believed the commissioner of agriculture, when he heard of the action of the house, had called out his army of inspectors and ordered his chief of staff to "take the rostrum and fight the amendment."

"It is not the law of Georgia," said Mr. Miller, "you are called to respect, but the order of the Assistant Secretary of Agriculture."

Other speakers for the amendment included Lanier, of Columbia, and Rawls, of Seminole, while Smith, of Talbot, spoke against it.

Representative Smith argued that, if the house wished to reduce the appropriation for the bureau of markets, it was not right to make a direct attack on the salary of an individual, but that it should leave that item and make direct reductions in

Kidnaping Girl Laid to Cook By Her Father

Former Banker, Fairburn City Official, To Face Campbell Court Wednesday.

Fairburn, Ga., August 3.—(Special)—H. W. Cook, whose alleged kidnaping of Agnes Purmort, 16, daughter of one of the tenants on one of his large farms, created a sensation throughout the state about a year ago, is slated to face a jury in Campbell county superior court here Wednesday.

Cook is a former councilman, a banker and was one of the leading citizens of the county for many years. He and the Purmort girl were said to have caught the same train bound for Los Angeles and a nation-wide search for the pair was begun. Several days later friends are said to have received postal cards from Cook. They were postmarked in Oklahoma.

Cook appeared some time later, declaring he had been on a business trip and denying he and the girl left together. The girl's father instigated the court proceedings against him, however, and he also is said to be pushing charges in the United States courts against his former landlord.

Cook formerly was wealthy, but now has taken out bankruptcy papers. Judge John B. Hutchison, of the Stone Mountain circuit, will preside and Solicitor Claude Smith will prosecute the case.

Campbell county court opened here this morning. Judge Hutchison declared a strong charge to the grand jury, of which A. Camp, formerly mayor of Fairburn, is foreman. Only civil business was transacted today.

Andrews Will Have Free Hand To Work Out Problems of Liquor Law Enforcement Unhindered.

HAYNES' POWERS GO TO DISTRICTS

Passing of Haynes Ushers in New Era of "Facing the Facts" by Treasury Department.

Washington, August 3.—(AP)—

Prohibition Commissioner Haynes will be stripped of all authority over prohibition enforcement on September 1. His duties will be lodged in the 24 prohibition administrators to be appointed under the reorganization of the enforcement forces, effective the first of next month, and he will act merely in an advisory capacity to Assistant Secretary Andrews, of the treasury.

An order authorizing the transfer of authority was issued today by International Revenue Commissioner Blair, who, under law, retains nominal jurisdiction over the prohibition unit. Actual direction of administration will be in the hands of Mr. Andrews, who was appointed to the treasury with that end in view.

More Sweeping Than Expected.

While the order had been forecast, it was much more sweeping than expected. It takes away from the commissioner all authority he had with respect to any matters relating to the prohibition of liquor, as well as all authority he has had in approving or disapproving acts of prohibition agents in the field.

Moreover, there no longer will be any requirement that copies of permits, bonds or other documents relating to the withdrawal, manufacture or other handling of liquors be forwarded to the commissioner. These will remain in the possession of the prohibition administrators who will be stationed in the United States, Porto Rico and Hawaii.

While the full effect of the order will not be felt until September 1, control of the manufacture, sale and use of specially-denatured alcohol is transferred immediately from collectors of internal revenue to the present prohibition directors, who will act in this respect as administrators until the regular administrators can be appointed.

Commissioner Haynes was absent today from Washington, but it was said at the prohibition unit that he would remain in his present place and that, as advisor to Mr. Andrews and active head of whatever force is retained in the prohibition headquarters, he will have as many duties as he can attend to.

While he has made no formal announcement, it is expected that the commissioner will relinquish his office later to enter the gubernatorial contest in Ohio as a candidate for the republican nomination in the state primaries next summer.

Treasury officials having to do with prohibition matters withheld comment on the order. Assistant Secretary Andrews referred callers to Commissioner Blair, whose name is signed to the order. Mr. Blair kept himself secluded in his office, but he sent out word to inquiries that "the answer" to the order simply was "decentralization" of prohibition enforcement.

Mr. Andrews still was engaged today in the long series of conferences leading up to the selection of the administrators, who are to take charge of the prohibition districts into which the country has been divided.

'CARD INDEX' YEGG GIVEN LONG TERM

Judge Thomas Pronounces Sentence of 10 to 20 Years Against Youth Pleading Guilty.

Gerald Smith, youthful "index card" burglar, Monday morning pleaded guilty to four indictments charging burglary before Judge E. D. Thomas in Fulton superior court, and was sentenced to from 10 to 20 years on each count, the terms to run concurrently.

Smith, who is 23 years old, pleaded guilty to burglarizing homes of J. P. Billups, 47 The Prado; H. L. Cobb, 53 Ponce de Leon avenue; D. A. Collins, 88 East Fourteenth street, and Charles A. Conklin, 904 Peachtree street.

After hearing the judge pronounce sentence, Smith with lips trembling, turned to a deputy sheriff and asked for the full term, saying he might have the sentences reduced. He asked if he might talk to the judge, but court officials led him into the detention room, and later carried him back to the Tower, where he will be held until his assignment to the chain-gang or state farm.

Smith was arrested July 21 after he had attempted to pawn a valuable ring in a Decatur street pawnshop. Officers searched his room at 45 Peachtree place and found a quantity of valuable loot.

The youth at first maintained his innocence, stating that he had found the valuable in Piedmont park. In his room was found a card index system, with names and addresses of well-known Atlantans and notations when they would leave the city on vacation trips.

PLAN FOR TAX BOARD IN STATE GIVEN SEBACK

Proposal To Repeal Georgia Equalization Tax Meets Defeat at House Committee Meeting.

OIL INSPECTOR CUT MEASURE ADVERSE

Bill To Prohibit Injunctions Against Labor Unions Is Disapproved Monday Night.

Fragments of would-be laws strewed

committee rooms of the Kimball house late Monday night when three committees of the lower body of the general assembly completed their deliberations. Measures that went down in defeat included proposals to reduce the number of oil inspectors; to prevent injunctions against labor unions; to create a state tax commission and repeal the equalization tax act; to repeal the workmen's compensation act, and many others.

After a hot session on the state tax commission measure, general judiciary committee No. 2 voted 8-8, and the chairman cast his vote in favor of adverse measure. Representative Barrett, of Stephens county, led the fight on the measure, stating that the time is not ripe for a tax commission.

Brown Wins Point.

In opposing the bill reducing the number of oil inspectors for Georgia, J. J. Brown, commissioner of agriculture, said that now there are 280 oil inspectors, and that six men could not do the work. Referring to charges concerning the "Brown machine," the commissioner declared: "I have no machine in the agricultural department. We do have an organization to render the greatest service possible to the agricultural people of Georgia, but there is no machine."

"Of course," Mr. Brown said, "when I appoint oil inspectors, I appoint them from among my friends, and if I find the appointees are not my friends, I ask them to resign. That is natural, isn't it? I am not trying to dictate to the legislature, and I am not a lobbyist. When I want to oppose a measure I go about it openly and speak my mind in public. I do not deny that I try to keep my friends in power, but I have no machine to do it with. We do our work honestly."

One of the oil inspection bills was by Representative Miller, of Dodge; the other by Representative Whitehead, of Early. Both would have reduced the number of oil inspectors, one to two inspectors and the other to six, and this Mr. Brown characterized as "a measure to reduce the number of inspectors."

General judiciary committee No. 2 reported favorably on a bill to provide for confiscation of all pistols and revolvers illegally carried. The same committee adverse a bill to provide for the salary system in the Dublin judicial circuit. The veterans' suit bill, passed by the senate, was set for special order for a hearing Wednesday night.

LABOR INJUNCTIONS

Labor and labor statistics committee of the house today voted to prohibit injunctions against labor unions. Robert S. Parker, attorney for the Georgia Manufacturers' association, appeared against the bill, asserting that it would throttle the courts, and set at naught the judicial system and customs handed down from time immemorial. Louis Marquardt, secretary of the state federation of labor, and C. W. Cunningham, president of the Atlanta federation, spoke in favor of the bill. In executive session, Chairman Vaughn, and Representatives Smith, of Tolbert, of McIntosh, took the floor against the bill.

The committee also adverse bills to establish a code of basic plumbing, and to regulate chimney construction in towns over 3,000 population. The committee reported favorably on a bill to create two shifts of firemen in towns of 10,783 population, the measure applying to Valdosta.

CHICAGOAN WINS PRIZE FOR DENTAL RESEARCH

Geneva, August 3.—(AP)—Dr. Truman W. Brophy, of Chicago, was awarded the Miller prize for dental research at the opening session of the annual meeting of the International Dental federation here today. Dr. Brophy was also named an honorary member of the Swiss Odontological society.

Believe Dead Teacher Wrote Mystery Letters To Herself

MATTON, Ill., August 3.—The belief that Miss Cora Stallman, reputed to be "queer," may have written threatening mystery letters to neighbors and to herself was expressed Monday as authorities probed her death. Her body was found in a cistern on the farm she managed.

Milwaukee and water-soaked letters found with the body have been examined, and though the writing does not resemble that of the woman, people in the vicinity hold that she may have been the author of the offensive missives, said to reflect the workings of a morbid mind.

No clue has been obtained yet as to how she came to her death. Coroner F. F. Schilling has forwarded the vital organs of the body to the University of Illinois, where chemists will examine them, seeking traces of poison. The inquest on the body will be held next week, authorities announce.

A friend, whose name is withheld, told officials that for several days before the tragedy Miss Stallman seemed surly and moody.

The dead woman, a graduate of the University of Cincinnati, was 48 years old. She had given up a career of school teaching to become manager of the farm of her sister, Mrs. Anna Seaman. Her life was a quiet one, and townspeople here are unable to account for the series of vicious letters which were sent to other persons on the Seaman farm, and it is emphasized that these letters, whether sent through the mail or left about the farm, were always delivered to the persons concerned by Miss Stallman.

PETITION TO BE FILED TODAY TO ENJOIN ENFORCEMENT OF ANTI-EVOLUTION LAW

JURY IS SELECTED TO JUDGE SANITY OF RUSSELL SCOTT

Imposing Array of Aliens Ready Today To Present Their Reports and Conclusions.

LAWYER SKETCHES CAREER OF SCOTT

Judge Rules Only Evidence Bearing on Prisoner's Sanity Since Conviction Will Be Admitted.

Chicago, August 3.—(AP)—Russell T. Scott, twice snatched from the gallows by dramatic midnight legal maneuvers, had a new day in court today.

A jury was selected to pass upon his mental condition. Opening statements were made by the defense and prosecution, and tomorrow an imposing array of alienists will begin the presentation of reports and conclusions from which twelve men will shape his fate.

Scott was in court pale, reflective and calm. At times he was the sharp, keen, alert international financier, promoter of a $30,000,000 Canadian-American bridge corporation, and manager of an organization with branches in 182 cities. Then he gave strict attention to the examination of the venemans and the blunt mandates of the court urging speed.

Again Seems Bewildered.

Again he was the bewildered and ineffectual peddler of razor straps, overwhelmed by the problem of raising $2 for room rent. Then he sat motionless at the side of the counsel table, his forehead glistening in his hand, intently contemplating the rhythmic oscillations of the judge's electric fan.

Scott is in court by virtue of a stay of execution granted ten days ago by Judge Joseph B. David, based upon a petition by Thomas Scott, father of the prisoner, asserting that his son had become insane since his conviction last December.

"We will show through reputable alienists who have examined this man within the last week that he suffers delusions of persecution," William Scott Stewart, the defense attorney, said in his opening statement.

When he attempted to allude to Scott's numerous assertions of innocence, he was abruptly interrupted by Judge David, who ruled pointedly that guilt or innocence is not even a remote issue in the sanity proceeding.

"The supreme court has spoken on that case. There is but one issue here. It is whether the prisoner has become insane since his conviction. And nothing else will get into this record."

FUNERAL ORATIONS OVER RICH FARMER COMPOSED BY HIM

Davenport, Iowa, August 3.—The voice of the dead delivered the oration at the funeral services for Charles W. Lau, wealthy retired farmer and former member of the school board, held here today.

In order that he might have a farewell heart-to-heart talk with his family and friends, and that he might deplore present conditions in the church, Mr. Lau three months ago went to a Chicago laboratory and had two addresses he had previously prepared inscribed on phonograph records. Lau died last Saturday. The two addresses were delivered through the medium of the phonograph today, one at the services at the home and the other at the crematorium.

Beats of Heart Are Filmed And Broadcast Over Radio

FRENCH DOCTOR SEES GREAT GAIN TO SCIENCE

Paris, August 3.—Heart beats are being filmed and broadcast by radio by Dr. Rene Lutenbacher, who has explained his method in a communication to the Academy of Medicine. Dr. Lutenbacher announces that he already has accomplished the following achievements:

1.—Compelling the heart of a dead rabbit to pulsate in exactly the same manner in which it functioned when alive, with the irregularities caused by the malady to which the rabbit succumbed.

2.—Treating the dead but active heart with appropriate drugs and obtaining a film or succession of films of the resultant effects.

3.—Sending out by radio over a distance of 500 miles films of the heart beats and lung movements of one of his patients.

"My objective," said Dr. Lutenbacher, "is primarily to spread up-to-date knowledge of diagnosis and treatment of heart troubles. I have taken films of human hearts, recording the beats of living persons, but for the present at least my experiments are limited to the hearts of dead animals. These furnish all the information necessary. Moreover, I deal only with the hearts of animals which have been diseased. A study of healthy, normal heart action would be useless."

The chief value of the method, Dr. Lutenbacher pointed out, is that it can provide a graphic table of heart beats when the organ is suffering from any one of the various lesions which accompany heart trouble. Practitioners could observe the tables and apply the knowledge so gained to the diagnosis of their patients, he said. A second series of films, taken during and after treatment, would be of use in determining the medicine to be prescribed and the amounts of it to be used. Above all, Dr. Lutenbacher said, his tables would limit error in diagnosis and treatment.

In studying human hearts, Dr. Lutenbacher asks his patients to steep both hands in salt water through which an electric current is passed. The heart pulsations are recorded by the current acting on a rotary needle, which traces the graphic representation of the pulsations on a film. With practice, Dr. Lutenbacher said, a physician can read the film and determine immediately what ailment is affecting the heart and what remedy to apply.

Managua, Nicaragua, August 3.—(AP)—Headed by a marine band with their colors flying, the United States marine detachment, garrisoned here since 1912, when they arrived to maintain order in the worst revolution in Nicaragua's history, marched today to the station and entrained for Corinto, where they are to embark on the transport Henderson for home.

At the last moment, four marines, who had married Nicaraguan girls, deserted. A local newspaper comments that love for Nicaragua's girls seemed to be greater than love of country.

The Managua papers generally say that the marines go as friends. "They have been here at our request, and they have never committed any acts against Nicaraguan independence or sovereignty," is one comment.

Major Calvin Brooks Carter, formerly an officer of the Philippine constabulary and at one time the American governor of the province of Cotabato, in the southern Philippines, is head of the Nicaraguan constabulary and with the departure of the marines is responsible for maintenance of order. His men will occupy the Campo De Marte, the stronghold which the marines have vacated. This formerly was the residence of the dictator, Jose Santos Zelaya, whose rule was ended by the revolution in which the marines first intervened.

Dr. Neal said that, under a federal statute, where application is made to a federal court to enjoin enforcement of a state law, the hearing must be held before three federal judges, at least one of whom must be a member of the United States circuit court of appeals. The district judge at Chattanooga is Judge Hen Hicks.

Dr. Neal said that, in presenting Wilson's petition, he and his associate attorneys relied chiefly on the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States. In their appeal in the Supreme court, Dr. Neal said they will limit their arguments before the state supreme court to an attack on the constitutionality of the act, and will not stress other features of the trial at Dayton, which, according to Dr. Neal, would entitle Scopes to a new trial, even if the anti-evolution laws should be valid. In this connection, he mentioned the repeated objection by Clarence Darrow to the opening of the Dayton sessions with prayer and the refusal of Judge Rantoul to permit the jury to hear the expert testimony offered by the defense.

"Whatever the ultimate outcome of the trial of Scopes," said Dr. Neal, "there are indications that a great deal of good has arisen from the Dayton trial. For example, the action of the Georgia legislature a few days ago in

200 Vessels Built in War To Be Burned

Bonfire To Be Made of Them in Few Days Off Virginia Coast.

Washington, August 3.—The greatest bonfire in the history of the Potomac river will begin to burn within the next few days, when a $200,000,000 war-time fleet of the shipping board, comprising 200 vessels, will be towed to Malloys bay, three miles below Quantico, Va., and fired.

Meanwhile, the shipping board is preparing to sell 200 other ships. The bid of Henry Ford, who offered $1,706,000 for the lot, will be taken up by the board Tuesday, and is expected to be accepted. The vessels which are to be burned cost $1,000,000 apiece to build.

At the end of the war, these ships were veritable "white elephants" on the hands of the government. Only a few could be put into peace-time commission. They were sold to a salvage company for $4,000 apiece. After stripping them to the hulks, the company made an unsuccessful effort to bench and burn them.

The government has now stepped in and made arrangements for a second attempt to destroy the useless fleet. The chief of army engineers has worked out this new plan of demolition.

The vessels will be destroyed in unit groups of 35. An immense net will be constructed so as to safeguard against any floating debris which might escape and menace the channel.

SUIT OF TAXPAYER ALLEGES CHILDREN DEPRIVED OF TRUTH

Step Is Designed by Scopes Counsel To Get Tennessee Statute Before Supreme Court.

THREE U. S. JUDGES MUST HEAR APPEAL

John R. Neal, After Filing Petition, Will Go at Once To New York for Conference.

Chattanooga, Tenn., August 3.—John Randolph Neal, of counsel for John T. Scopes, recently convicted of violating Tennessee's anti-evolution law, in a statement given the Chattanooga Times tonight, declared that he will file in the United States district court here tomorrow a taxpayer's petition to enjoin enforcement of the state law.

Dr. Neal said that, after filing the petition, he will leave tomorrow for New York to confer with Dudley Field Malone, Arthur Garfield Hays and other attorneys interested in the case.

Dr. Neal explained that the petition that he will file here, while designed as a step toward getting the anti-evolution statute tested before the United States supreme court, has only an indirect bearing on the Scopes case. The Scopes case, the attorney said, will be contested simultaneously, through appeal to the state supreme court, with the United States supreme court as the ultimate goal of the defense attorneys in both actions.

The petitioner in the federal court at Chattanooga is Robert Wilson, who, as a taxpayer, prays for a court order to restrain enforcement of the anti-evolution law, on the grounds that, under it, his children are deprived of the privilege of being taught "the truth" in the public schools of the state.

A similar petition from Wilson was presented to and denied by Federal Judge Gore, at Cookeville, Tenn., several days before Scopes went to trial at Dayton.

Dr. Neal said that, under a federal statute, where application is made to a federal court to enjoin enforcement of a state law, the hearing must be held before three federal judges, at least one of whom must be a member of the United States circuit court of appeals. The district judge at Chattanooga is Judge Hen Hicks.

Dr. Neal said that, in presenting Wilson's petition, he and his associate attorneys relied chiefly on the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States. In their appeal in the Supreme court, Dr. Neal said they will limit their arguments before the state supreme court to an attack on the constitutionality of the act, and will not stress other features of the trial at Dayton, which, according to Dr. Neal, would entitle Scopes to a new trial, even if the anti-evolution laws should be valid. In this connection, he mentioned the repeated objection by Clarence Darrow to the opening of the Dayton sessions with prayer and the refusal of Judge Rantoul to permit the jury to hear the expert testimony offered by the defense.

ESKIMO PROGRAM TO BE RADIOCAST WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Chicago, August 3.—(AP)—Radio-casting the human voice from the MacMillan Arctic-Navy expedition has proved so successful that members of the expedition party expect re-broadcasting to thousands of home receivers will be possible within a few weeks. That was the statement of Lieutenant Commander E. P. McDonald, Jr., in a radio communication from Etah, Greenland announcing that their radio-casting of music and voice on Saturday night had been reported heard by amateur operators in London, England, and in Grand Forks, N. D.

The expedition now is within 12 degrees of the north pole, with 24 hours of daylight. At 10 o'clock, eastern standard time, Wednesday night, it is planned to send the voice of Eskimos over the radiophone back to civilization.

SUMTER PLANTERS SEE BIG RETURNS FROM PEANUTS

Americus, Ga., August 3.—(Special.)—Fair prices here will enable farmers of Sumter county to "cash in" on the peanut crop, when it is harvested this fall. Practically every farmer in the county has devoted acreage to the cultivation of peanuts and the belief is that this year Sumter will harvest the largest crop in its history. Soil in this section is well adapted to the growing of peanuts and weather conditions have been favorable to the crop throughout the season, with the exception of the first two weeks. Plants that died because of lack of moisture have been replaced and the present stand is almost perfect. Other peanut growing sections cut acreage this year to plant watermelons, cantaloupes and to set out pecan trees, thus slashing Georgia's average output by several thousand tons which, in the opinion of representative farmers, will tend to elevate the price.

FIFTH MAN ENTERS RACE FOR LA FOLLETTE SEAT

Milwaukee, Wis., August 3.—(AP)—The fifth republican candidate to enter the race for the seat in the United States senate, made vacant by the death of Senator Robert M. La Follette, is Wallace Ingalls, of Racine, a state assemblyman and strong supporter of the Coolidge administration.

Coolidge Is Told That Middle West Is Strong for Him

Swampscott, Mass., August 3.—(AP) Conditions in the middle west were studied today by President Coolidge in a conference with John T. Adams, of Iowa, former republican national committee chairman, who came to White Court at the invitation of the executive. Mr. Adams was optimistic over the outlook in his section, particularly with reference to agricultural conditions. The farm situation is approaching normal, he says.

"The west now is agriculturally and politically conservative," Mr. Adams asserted. "It is no longer the battle ground between radicalism and conservatism. President Coolidge is more popular today than at the time of his election."

Mr. Adams made no attempt to predict the needs of farmers along legislative lines. One spokesman for his territory, however, have suggested the need for cooperative marketing measures.

BODY OF MAN FOUND IN WOOD IS IDENTIFIED

Thomasville, Ga., August 3.—(Special.)—The partially decomposed body of a man found Saturday in a wood about 10 miles from Thomasville on the Boston road was identified today as C. L. Butler, formerly of Grady county. A brother, Nathan Butler, and a daughter, Thelma Butler, were here today.

Butler had been missing about two months, they said. He had moved with his family near Lake Lanoka. He became dissatisfied, and his family is said to have believed his mind was affected. He left home, saying he was going to Thomasville to get a job, but had not been heard from since. It is believed he committed suicide, as he was said to have threatened to do so. His clothes and other belongings were positively identified.

RAYON PLANT PLANNED FOR JOHNSON CITY

Johnson City, Tenn., August 3.—(AP)—Headed by a group of international bankers, New York financiers and German industrial leaders, the American Bemberg company, capitalized under the laws of Maryland at $17,500,000, immediately will begin work on a large rayon plant here. J. W. Ring, president of the local chamber of commerce, announced today.

Ultimate employment of 10,000 operatives and an investment of approximately $10,000,000 in construction are outlined in a five-year development program for the plant, Mr. Ring said.

LABOR BANK LEASES LARGER QUARTERS

New York, August 3.—(AP)—Lease of the Tiffany building in Union Square as a home of the Amalgamated Bank of New York, the first labor bank organized in this city, was announced today by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America.

Growth of the bank to resources of $6,000,000 and 12,000 depositors since its establishment two years ago made necessary larger headquarters, it was explained.

REAL ESTATE ACTIVE IN TIFT COUNTY

Tifton, Ga., August 3.—(Special.) The real estate market in Tift county is lively. Several large farms have been sold during the past week. One man purchased a farm about four miles from Tifton and two days later was offered a profit of $1,000 on it. Local surveyors are being kept busy surveying the large farms and cutting them up into small ones which are being rapidly sold.

ATLANTA CONCERN INVITES GERMANS TO SETTLE FARMS

Americus, Ga., August 3.—(Special.)—Sumter county may have a colony of German farmers within the next few years if the exodus of planters from that country continues, according to Dr. H. T. Steuble, representative of the German farm immigration department, who spent several weeks in this section of the state making a survey of land and conditions to ascertain whether the soil was adapted to the crops specialized in by the German agriculturists.

Before leaving Americus for Germany, Dr. Steuble said Sumter land is peculiarly adapted to cultivation by farmers of his country and declared he is going to make a favorable report to the immigration department.

regarding German farmers settling here. Dr. Steuble was taken on a tour of inspection of the Atlanta Trust company's farms in this county and was authorized to procure German farmers for some of the company's idle lands providing they met with his approval.

GEORGIA SECRETARIES MEET HERE AUGUST 14

Approximately 50 delegates, representing principal cities throughout the state, have signified their intention of attending the convention of the Georgia Association of Commercial Secretaries in Atlanta Friday, August 14, according to announcement Monday. The convention will be held in the chamber building.

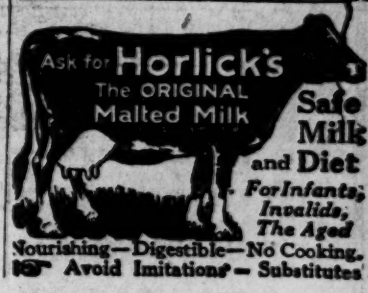

President W. H. Procter, of Dublin, will preside. A speaker from the National Chamber of Commerce is expected to be present.

TROPICAL STREAM THOUGHT TO EXIST, DESPITE REPORT

New York, August 3.—(AP)—Failure of the expedition headed by Dr. William Beebe to find the Humboldt current in tropical waters should not be taken to indicate the non-existence of that body of water, Dr. Robert Cushman Murphy, assistant director of the American Museum of Natural History, said today. "The expedition which recently returned aboard the Arcturion," Dr. Murphy said, "in my opinion, did not seek the current where it has generally been reported."

The current, he said, is believed to be off the central coast of Chile rather than in the vicinity of the Galapagos islands, where the Arcturion sought it.

REQUEST TO EXTEND VISIT OF U. S. FLEET IS HELD IMPOSSIBLE

Melbourne, August 4.—(AP)—Although the people of Melbourne, who have been entertaining the officers and men of the United States fleet since July 23, asked that the visit of the fleet be extended a few days more, they were told today that such an extension was impossible.

Five thousand Melbourneites attended the official reception given by Admiral Cootz last night aboard three warships.

Residents of Melbourne declared that the sailors had endeared themselves to the Australians. The Americans responding, declared they all had had a wonderful time and would be sorry to depart.

MILLEN IS STRICKEN BY $10,000 FARE LOSS

Millen, Ga., August 3.—(AP)—Gillen was stricken this morning by its most disastrous fire in the last three years. The alarm of fire was given about 3:30 o'clock this morning and due to the earliness of the hour the crowd gathered very slowly and the volunteer fire department was unable to summon its full strength due to the weakness of the alarm until the fire had gained such headway as to make the homes of E. B. Johnston and J. E. Braswell total losses. Damage is estimated at $10,000.

COLLEGE PARK FIGHTS PROPOSED FARE HIKE

College Park, Ga., August 3.—(Special.)—Vigorous steps to oppose a bill proposed in the Georgia legislature to abrogate 5-cent street car fare between Atlanta and this city were mapped out here tonight by city council. The plan calls for stiff opposition both in committee meetings and also when the measure goes to the house and senate for final action.

Reasons hitting the proposed bill and calling on members of the legislature from Fulton county to oppose it were passed. They will be placed in the hands of members of the delegation Tuesday. Representatives will be asked to oppose the measure in committee meetings and to use their influence against it in the house and senate when it is brought up.

The city attorney also will begin at once to prepare briefs showing the contract between the Georgia Railway and Power company and the city. This will be used in argument against the measure, and also if the matter is thrown again into the courts.

The resolutions tonight were introduced by Councilman S. A. Johnson, and were seconded by Councilman L. H. Warlick.

The bill introduced in the legislature would allow the public service commission to decide whether the contract now existing between the power company and the city is valid. It is said to be sponsored by the company.

4 KILLED, 15 HURT WHEN ITALIAN MOB STORMS CITY HALL

Cosenza, Italy, August 3.—(AP)—Three women and a man were killed and 15 persons injured in fighting today at San Giovanni, in southern Italy, when a mob of 200 stormed the municipal building as a protest against the administrative methods of government officials. Police fired on the crowd and troops were hurried from there to restore order.

The attack on the city hall apparently grew out of discontent on the part of the villagers against the royal commissioner, Giovanni Rossi, who is said to have increased the taxes on various prime necessities of life.

GEORGIA TEMPLARS REACH LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Cal., August 3.—(Special.)—The Georgia Knights Templar special left San Francisco Sunday after spending 24 hours in the Golden Gate city. The visitors were escorted by the San Francisco police to the ship. The party reached Los Angeles this morning. Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock the entire party will go to Catalina Island. Charles V. Means, chairman of the entertainment committee, Los Angeles commandery, has arranged to take the party to Hollywood Wednesday morning to visit Warner's studio. The Georgians leave here Thursday morning for Salt Lake City. Everybody is in the best of spirits and enjoying good health.

AERONAUTICAL BOARD PLANS FALL RACES

Detroit, August 3.—(AP)—The board of governors of the national aeronautical association met here today to approve plans for the national air races which include the Pulitzer speed race at New York the first part of October. Plans for the annual convention will be presented by Donald H. Oberdorfer of the program committee.

ATLANTES MEMBERS WILL STAGE DEBATE

The regular luncheon of the Atlantes club will be held at noon today and will be presided over by William G. Grant.

The principal feature of the program will be a debate on a subject of interest to the club members. Those participating will be H. H. Wagenhals and Stephens Mitchell. Attendance will be presented by Donald H. Oberdorfer of the program committee.

TENT TOWNS ERECTED FOR STRIKING MINERS

Wheeling, W. Va., August 3.—(AP)—William Roy, vice president of the Ohio district of the United Mine Workers, today announced that five tent colonies for families of striking miners in the West Virginia Panhandle region would be erected at once in Moundsville, Colliers, Wellsburg, Warwood and Richards. A dozen tents have been set up at Moundsville, said Roy. The other tented villages, he added, would be ready for 75 families late this week.

JURY SELECTED TO JUDGE SCOTT'S SANITY

sultation over the bench. The court spoke again.

"That case is closed. This is a civil trial. That case is closed."

Impetuous gestures gave emphasis to the ruling.

The defense attorney resumed.

"We will not give you a lot of foolish stuff about butterflies and lions. We'll tell you about this man's life in the county jail during the last 16 months, about his career and his ideas and let you be the judge."

The statement required 30 minutes. It was a sketch of Scott's life from fifth grade schoolboy to actor, to advertising man, bond salesman, brokerage house manager, financier and exponent of "the Scott idea to revolutionize the sale of stocks and bonds."

"He told the doctors that he sold his idea to hundreds and thousands of bank depositors in many communities and that the bankers put him out of business because he was ruining their business by causing them to withdraw their savings," added Stewart.

"He told them his boards of directors were mere figureheads, and that all the burdens of the business were upon his own shoulders. He had seven servants, three or four motor cars and three secretaries. His troubles multiplied and he suffered something like a nervous breakdown. He drank a good deal and soon became addicted to narcotics. One day he got up and walked away from his business and his family and moved to Chicago to take a job selling razor straps."

The opening statement of the prosecution required 15 minutes. Assistant State Attorney W. A. Rittenhouse stressed the contention that in all previous efforts to save Scott no mention had been made of his alleged insanity.

Scott's wife, who has fought heroically to save him from the gallows, remained in Detroit today to continue a campaign to raise funds for her husband's defense.

The aged father of the condemned man, sitting within a few feet of Jacob Maurer, father of the victim of the robbery, was a stoic spectator.

Under the continuing urge of the court for speed, a jury was selected in less than four hours. Judge David believes the case should be concluded this week. Tomorrow the alienists will testify.

No More Piles

Thousands Bless Dr. Leonhardt, the Physician Who Discovered This Common Sense Remedy.

If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the misery of piles, it's because you haven't heard of the new treatment known as Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID.

This Doctor's treatment is internal. By experimenting for years he discovered the exact cause of piles and then went further and compounded a remedy that would remove the cause.

Dr. Leonhardt wants every sufferer to benefit by his discovery and so that there will be no doubting or delay Jacobs' Drug Store and all druggists are authorized to sell HEM-ROID with guarantee that it will do as stated or money back.

On that honorable basis every sufferer should secure a package of Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID today.—(adv.)

GEORGIA PLANTER CLUBBED TO DEATH BY HIS NEIGHBOR

Valdosta, Ga., August 3.—In an encounter late Sunday afternoon between Hugh Sutton, 40, and Joe Ivey, 55, the latter received a blow over the head, which resulted in his death at a late hour Sunday night.

The two men lived about 10 miles west of Nashville in the new river section of Berrien county, being close neighbors.

According to reports received here today, the two men engaged in an altercation regarding a tobacco barn and it is alleged that Sutton claimed Ivey was advancing on him with an open knife when Sutton seized a stick nearby and struck Ivey over the head.

It is reported that after striking what proved to be the fatal blow, Sutton walked away and after Ivey's death telephoned the sheriff not to bother to come after him, saying he would go in and surrender. At last reports, however, he had not been seen in Nashville and no warrant had been issued for him. Both men had families.

Ivey was tried in Berrien county about 15 years ago on a charge of killing Dan D. Rawdy, a white man, and was acquitted by the jury. Reports tonight are to the effect that Sutton will surrender.

CENTRAL AGENCY TO BUY GEORGIA SUPPLIES URGED

Coordination into one central agency of all purchases by state departments, will be proposed by an amendment to the general appropriations bill when it reaches the senate.

Under the amendment, to be sponsored by Senators Shirley C. Boykin and R. E. Andrews, it is claimed that a net saving to the state of approximately half a million dollars a year would be made.

The proposal is to consolidate the state printing department with that of the state auditor, placing all purchases in the hands of the auditor. Under the present system, each department buys its own supplies.

State Auditor Sam J. Slate is known to be in favor of such an arrangement. In his annual report for 1924 he recommended establishment of a central purchasing agency, showing how, in one instance, such an agency could have saved to the state $15,000.

The amendment proposed by Senators Andrews and Boykin would not include the state institutions, provision only being made for the capital departments in the city of Atlanta.

ST. LOUIS SHERIFF SEIZES CITY JAIL IN POLITICAL WAR

St. Louis, August 3.—(AP)—Sheriff Schuler seized the city jail today in furtherance of his effort to have it declared under his control. The city immediately brought injunction proceedings.

The sheriff sent four unarmed deputies to the jail who locked Jailer Lefman in his quarters and took charge.

The controversy is a part of a factional dispute between Mayor Miller and Collector Koehn. Lefman is a Miller appointee while Schuler is a Koehn adherent.

COMFORTS PLANNED FOR EVICTED GERMANS

Schneidemuehl, Germany, August 3.—(AP)—Already a number of measures for the amelioration of the situation for the thousands of Germans evicted from Poland have resulted from the visit to the refugee camp of Minister of the Interior Severing.

Orders have been sent to Berlin for 9,000 blankets. Carpenters are working on the construction of wooden beds. Minister Severing has ordered the immediate establishment of additional fireproof buildings and the adoption of measures to prevent the outbreak of fire.

All the sick in the camp are to be isolated and an appropriate medical and nursing staff is being organized.

BANK STRIKE SPREADS TO FRENCH PROVINCES

Paris, August 3.—(AP)—The strike of bank employees, which has been in progress for a week, spread to the provinces today. At meetings held at various points outside of Paris resolutions were passed saying that the movement is in no way political.

In Paris, the strikers were frustrated by the police in an attempt to hold a meeting. The demonstrators then withdrew.

The secretary of the bankers' union in Marseilles announced that the municipal council had presented 30,000 francs to aid the families of the strikers.

CUNNING MURDER BY CHEMIST IS SEEN

were not the same. The body measures 2 inches less than the chemist's. Believes Stranger Murdered.

The theory being built up now by Tinning is that some stranger was murdered, by blows on the head in Schwartz's shop last Tuesday. The body, according to this version, was stuffed in a closet. Evidence supporting this opinion was found in dried blood stains in the room.

Then, Tinning continues in his reconstruction of the crime, the body was dragged out, wrapped in oil-soaked blankets and ailed with an explosive substance nearby.

Joe Rodriguez, a laborer who disappeared from his ranch last Tuesday, may be the man slain, but Tinning is not depending too closely upon this possible connection. Persons who know both Rodriguez and Schwartz, and who viewed the body, declared it resembled the laborer more than it did Schwartz.

Concentrates on Hunt.

But Tinning, instead of bearing down upon this possibility, is concentrating on a hunt for Schwartz. His idea being that to find him would clear up the mystery more effectively than would evidence linking Rodriguez to the case.

Berkeley police have discovered that Schwartz was arrested three years ago, charged with threatening to kill an associate. The charge was not pressed. It developed also that Schwartz, who holds a Ph. D. from Heidelberg, had had trouble with German insurance companies and had been forced to forfeit policies held with them.

Paul Gores Dead.

Chicago, August 3.—(AP)—Paul Gores, a hotel manager, whose feet were trampled in a republican national convention crowd in 1916 resulting in injuries and complication necessitating their amputation, died today, aged 67, from a general breakdown.

Gore's battle against great odds was watched with sympathy by many of his friends who included presidents, senators and the whole range of traveling public familiar with large hotels.

POISON KILLS GIRL Infection After Tooth Is Extracted Blamed for Death.

Huntsville, Ala., August 3.—(Special.)—Miss Annie Tolen, 17, of Dallas, died yesterday of blood poisoning, which developed after the extraction of a tooth last Monday. Several days elapsed before it was realized that her condition was dangerous.

800 WOMEN BARBERS TAKEN INTO UNION

Chicago, August 3.—(AP)—Women barbers, of which there are 800 in Chicago, are to be taken into the union of men barbers. W. S. Leidig, president of the union, said women barbers have been working 14 hours a day and their pay is half the income from the work they do with no guarantee. The men barbers receive a salary of $30 a week and 60 percent of the money they earn exceeding $42.

DEBT FUNDING BEGINS.

Members of the American war debt funding commission are hurrying to Washington in order to complete negotiations with all delinquent nations before the assembling of congress in December.

Beginning with Belgium, the commission from which will arrive in this country Wednesday, the parleys will, in succession, include France, Italy and Latvia.

It is understood—and certainly it is the only fair course—that the United States will hold these nations as primary debtors, and will not accept for payments any assignments of the reparations due them, respectively, by Germany.

It will, of course, arrange the American payments to conform to the payments obligated by Germany, to be made by it direct to each nation.

France is the largest present debtor to the United States and has obviously tried more desperately than any other to evade the war obligations, despite the fact that this government has, even since the armistice, thrown the force of its influence behind France in the stabilization of European protection.

France owes reparations to Great Britain about similar in amount to the debt to America, and it is understood in Paris that England is ready to accept 15,000,000 pounds sterling a year from France to be applied toward the English payment to the United States, and to be reduced currently in proportion as England collects from her other allies and from Germany.

The French feel that a settlement on such a scale as this with England would seriously hamper their getting what they hope from Washington.

It is reasoned in the French capital that 15,000,000 pounds sterling a year to England and 20,000,000 pounds sterling to the United States, a total of 35,000,000 pounds, is what England now pays America, and that if England, with her great foreign interests, finds it burdensome to pay this sum, France bearing the load of reconstruction, could not pay it. And thus the French have material for an argument they will surely present at Washington—that France's capacity for payment must be considered, and considered not only by one debtor but by both debtors.

There is no argument on that point either. The agreement should not seek to embarrass France—nor will it.

The point is, the United States wants a fixed agreement, entered into in good faith. It has a reason to be tired and disgusted with the efforts to whine the debt off of the ledger.

CAMP WILKINS.

Dr. Andrew M. Soule, president of the Georgia College of agriculture, conceived the idea of combining scientific farm schooling with summer recreation for the rural boys of Georgia; and also the teaching of home economics and domestic science combined with recreation for the rural girls of Georgia. Camp Wilkins, at Athens, with its lake, playgrounds, etc., was the result.

Thousands of boys and girls, in weekly relays of around 200 from one section, alternating, have been given training this summer that will be invaluable to them and better fit them for the routine schooling that will come when the regular school terms begin. At the same time they have been offered recreational advantages that do not usually come to a great majority of them.

There are 200 boys, from a score or more counties, at Camp Wilkins this week. Another 200 from another group of counties will be there next week. In three weeks the season will be over—the best season, in the volume, width and breadth of service, that ever came into the lives of the rural children who have taken advantage of the opportunity.

It is a great work. It was conceived in a comprehensive spirit of service. Dr. Soule is to be congratulated for the same, and he and his teacher associates for the magnificent manner in which the camp has been conducted.

THE ORIENT PARTY.

There is a note of satirical but sharp criticism in a news cablegram from Tokyo to The New York World with regard to the congressional party that has just sailed from that port for the United States after visiting Philippine and Chinese ports.

The cablegram in question says: "Following a garden party to be given by the mayor of Yokohama tomorrow morning, 11 members of congress and 22 relatives will sail for the United States on the transport Chaumont, having 'studied conditions' in Japan three days.

"They studied Nekko, the famous show place, for a day and passed the rest of the time at the Imperial hotel studying informal receptions, teas and dinners. The Pan-Pacific Club of Japan paid the hotel bills. There was a similar program in Philippine and Chinese ports. There was criticism from the Manila newspapers because the junketeers, except Representative Thatcher, of Kentucky, allowed the Filipinos to pay their bills.

"The party studied Manila six days, the majority of the party favoring independence after the second day. It is reported here. Much entertainment followed.

"In the party are Representatives Beggs, of Ohio; Thatcher, of Kentucky; Lindeberger, of California; Crisp, of Georgia; Garrett, of Texas; Gilbert, of Kentucky; Jones, of Texas; Kinkaid, of Kentucky; McReynolds, of Tennessee; Winge, of Arkansas; and Johnson, of Kentucky."

We have never taken stock in the usual congressional junketing trips—but they will be taken, and if one member doesn't go another will. The party in question certainly did not have the time to make a survey of either China or Japan, and there is no good reason why it should. The stops in those countries were more in the nature of expressions of friendly relations than anything else, and in that respect the ends sought were fully accomplished.

As to the Philippines, over which the American flag floats, the situation is quite different. A week's study should have been sufficient, however, especially with members of congress who are kept thoroughly familiar at all times with every phase of Philippine development, and the gradual growth of popular government.

That the members favor "independence" is nothing to slur at. It is something to be proud of. It is the solemn obligation of this country, which has always decried imperialist tendencies, to turn that country over to its own people as quickly as they prove their capability for self-government. Of course such a transfer of authority would be accompanied by a protectorate agreement similar to the Platt amendment which still holds as to Cuba.

Representative Crisp, of Georgia, is a member of the party that visited the Orient, and there is not an able or more conscientious member of congress.

It is silly to become satirical because the Americans accepted entertainment.

Did any American ever hear of a member of the English house of lords, or house of commons, coming officially to this country who was not lavishly entertained by this country?

"GET-TOGETHER" IN GLYNN.
Thursday, August 5, will be a red-letter day in Glynn county. The farmers and the business men, the members of the boys' and girls' clubs, and citizens generally will "get-together" on St. Simon's island for an all-day cooperative gathering.

As an illustration of the interest and the spirit of cooperation shown the stores in Brunswick will close for a half holiday.

With other counties in south Georgia, Glynn is moving forward by leaps and bounds, with farms in prosperous condition, industry running full and increasing, trade good—and all of the people overwhelmed with hope and optimism.

Cooperation is having a great deal to do with the present tide of prosperity in Georgia, and the people of Glynn are to be commended for the spirit they are showing.

In Shadowland.
In Shadowland I love to play Where twilight goesps of the day.

Where fairy flies, a will-o-wisp, And trembling trees in secret lips.
In Shadowland the heart of a dreamer Are crystal dreams in gay festoons;

There I may gaze where dreams are made, While star-worlds flash and fall and fade.

In Shadowland all earth is white—A shade is only changing light—A time is but the dial's hand Grown dim at dusk in Shadowland.

Talking about people falling from grace, they surely do not get very high, as we never hear any noise when they drop.

We observe that the legislature is fixing to cut out the Sunday dancing. This does not mean anything here, as Sunday is the only time we have to dance.

We notice that the fad is going to be started for women to have flowers pinned on their legs. We have sent for the brushes and material and will soon be ready to start up a paint shop in connection with the Nugget office. Work guaranteed and terms reasonable.

This month the editor of the Nugget, besides setting up all the type for the paper by his legs, we have sent for power 25,000 letterheads, envelopes, cards and statements, keeping us out of any devilment.

The Rabun county negro was to have been electrocuted at Milledgeville Friday and the authorities had him a nice dinner and everything ready to give him special attention when a message was received stating that he had been given another month by the governor and was stopping over in the Atlanta jail tower.

Fracture.
I love the beauty of earth's quiet things:
The heavy brilliance of a man's clean eyes;
The slim shill cadence that a cricket sings
Across a calm green sky where day-light lights.

II.
I like the friendly silence of a tree:
And a wrinkled moon, like dead
On night's dark breast; and I shall never see Still things as deathly-hushed as lilies are.

III.
Or those frail fingers of blue-splintered rain
That pluck cadences on a slate-roof
And splash dull music like that star-drenched pain
I ever feel when Beauty makes me mute.

IV.
For silence is the most articulate
Of speeches, annihilating time and space—
It speaks the mind of God, which dwells
In all us creatures of earth's commonplace.

The Homespun Philosopher.
This is one of "Uncle John's" stand-outs in the Excelsior Springs Standard.

"There ain't no niche for selfishness in the hall of fame—It's what a man's been good for that commemorates his name; the world demands self-sacrifice, so often that a man that's selfish, least affords it that is easiest forgot."

"We find the snoozing settin' on a mighty narrow shelf, that centers all of a nation's providin' on him; he saps the life around him till it's time to go to bed, and the chief is mighty formal when they tell us he's dead."

"There's a mighty general feelin' through the country here of late—that the biggest pile of selfishness is easiest to hate; while the hated ain't included in our few angelic deeds, selfishness is mighty apt to gather what it needs."

I don't imagine why anyone should have much such a statement. The language is plain and unequivocal and does not in anywise, remotely, directly or indirectly, place any restrictions upon either the sale or delivery of newspapers by newsboys of any age.

HUGE BISON HERD SENT TO ARCTIC LEAVE NEW HOME

Edmonton, Alta., August 3.—(AP)—The buffalo herd recently shipped from Wainwright National park to the wood bison reserve in the Far North, is reported to be on its way back home.

According to trappers the animals are making their way through the northern woods, fording rivers and overcoming other obstacles.

More than 1,000 bison were shipped north by rail and barges and were set free on the fringe of the Arctic circle.

LIGHTS OF NEW YORK

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

New York, August 3.—Broadway Meanderings: A book-nosed fellow was trying to sell "indestructible shirts" on Fourteenth street yesterday. . . . Leopold Schepps, the millionaire, who has advertised for millions to give his money away, started life selling palm leaf fans to the patrons of the old horse cars on Third avenue. . . . Channing Pollock, author of "The Fool," found himself short of change at the Astor, the hotel officials told him they had never heard of him. The humor of the situation was that Pollock has been banqueting three times at the same hotel by admirers. . . . The Times Square theater, where "Kosher Kitty Kelly" is playing, announced that it would be host to all the Kitty Kellys in Greater New York. Birth certificates were exchanged for seat checks; the house was filled and an overflow will have to be given for the disappointed Kittys.

One of the officials of Famous Players-Lasky was on the station platform the other day when he saw a young lady approach who looked so much like Gloria Swanson that he walked up to her and started a chat. The mistake was soon discovered of course. But the girl in question is already having screen tests.

If you have the patience to witness a Chinese play you must go down to the old Celestial playhouse on the Bowery. Nearby you'll find three Italian motion picture theaters and one opera house. Yiddish burlesque shows abound in this region. There is one Swedish show in Brooklyn, but for a real Hindu play the Community church at Park avenue and 54th street is the place.

Among the death notices in the New York papers there appeared today an item that may mean nothing to thousands but that carried a strange thrill of reminiscence and loyalty to those who recall the murder of the gambler Rosenthal. The item ran as follows: "In loving memory of Lieutenant Bathing suits made of cross-word puzzle designs with the puzzle all worked out. Grown-up men and women being pushed along in go-carts. Yiddish models dancing the Charleston. Youngsters carrying their kitten in their mouth and kicking the kitten with their feet. Poisons of all kinds. Poisonous human snakes selling obscene French photographs to young boys and girls. Squawking spikers. Sweat-drenched East Side mothers with their multitudinous brood. Hot dogs. Open air dance emporiums crowded to suffocation with jiggling, necking, kicking couples. Gigantic figures of gilded menabos above the entrance to a cake-walk. A singing, howling, blaring, topsy-turvy world of jazz. Coney Island.

GIVE SURPRISED BY GERMAN CLAIM FOR HOLDER ROW

London, August 3.—(AP)—When shown an announcement from Berlin that Professor Meysner, chief surgeon of a big hospital there, claimed priority in the cancer discoveries recently made by Dr. William Gye and Dr. J. E. Barnard, the English physician, Dr. Gye told the Westminster Gazette that he had been a rather close student of German medical journals in which he had read many articles dealing with cancer, but he had not noticed anything in any way related to his and Dr. Barnard's work. Dr. Gye said he never heard of Dr. Meysner and that he thought there must be some confusion.

"Of course," he added, "if he has done what he is stated to have done, I take off my hat to him."

Dr. Meysner, says one dispatch, asserts that the report of his own cancer investigations, as submitted to the London Board of Health by an English doctor, formed the basis of the researches of Doctors Gye and Barnard. Some of the Berlin special dispatches give the German physician's name as Dr. Keyser.

LEGATIONS RIDICULE GREEK-BULGAR CRISIS

Paris, August 3.—(AP)—Although disbelievers from Athens took criticism by C. D. Redwine Friday of an award by the board which Redwine said had been won by a higher bidder than himself. He said that the bids were opened in the regular way for delivery at East Point, but that Engineer Neel changed his mind after the bids were opened, and asked the lowest bidder to raise his price for delivery to the various divisions. Mr. Anderson held the Redwine affair was an unfortunate mistake on the part of the board, and there was nothing dishonest in it, Mr. Neel being cautioned later to be more careful in such matters.

JAMES BUSSEY DIES FROM PISTOL WOUND

Augusta, Ga., August 3.—(Special).—James S. Bussey, 70, for many years a prominent business man of this city, died late tonight at a local hospital from a pistol wound in the temple, said by the police to have been self-inflicted. He was found on the floor of his room in a hotel house, a discharged revolver grasped in his hand.

Mr. Bussey was a native of Lincoln county, Georgia, and until a few years ago had been engaged in the wholesale grocery business in Augusta.

CARDINAL BEGIN DIED VIRTUALLY PENILESS

Quebec, August 3.—(AP)—The late Cardinal Begin, one of the senior prelates of the Catholic church and for years archbishop of Quebec, and Catholic primate of Canada, died virtually penniless, it was learned today. He left no personal estate and his will contains only a few small bequests to charity. The temporal will was not made public. His spiritual will commended his soul to God and urged forgiveness for any neglect of his duty to God or man.

Police Comb Chicago.

Chicago, August 3.—(AP)—Nearly 50 known gunmen and bootleggers were rounded up last night in raids by detectives on robber hangouts and grog shops. The raids came as an aftermath of the robbery of the Waldorf hotel, resulting in the death of three men, two of them hold-up men.

HEALTH TALKS BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Where's Our Sense of Humor?
In the list of diseases which the fall guy notoriously fancies he can "treat with violet ray" is that which apparently covers about every ailment imaginable—I note "catarrh," "falling hair," "rheumatism," "colds," "eye diseases," "skin diseases." The magazine in which the shady ad appears is one of the popular ones selling for two bits the copy. The magazine sells big. Along with the violet ray hoax, its important pages are completely filled with all manner of appeals to the gullibility of the great American Wisenheimer family, and its readers are being misled as to the value of the average daily newspaper. The difference in price between the average daily newspaper and the average popular magazine is the tax placed upon credulity by the purveyors of chicanery.

And when I think of the numerous magazines of this same category and the grand total of Simple Simons they reach, I wonder what has become of our boasted intelligence. We must be a nation of boobies indeed. Evidently there is born every minute a prospect for some such snide as a nose-guisher, secret, or drug habit, solid brass ear drum or short cut to success. As I have tried to intimate heretofore, there's a reason why our popular education system does not limit this particular brain rate.

A blatant illegitimate or unlicensed healer, appealing to the Wisenheimer family through the columns of the "secure weekly" newspaper, in the same breath denounces the "germ theory," as ignoramus of his stamp call it, and offers as one objection to vaccination as a prophylactic measure the "danger of infection" forgetting in his eagerness that he has just asserted belief in infection as the cause of disease. However, the share of the population that takes such quacks seriously will never notice any little discrepancies like these. The mental tests of drafted men at the time of the world war showed that a considerable proportion of the population belongs in the moron class, and the very significant fact is that moron is just naturally misunderstood by a large share of the population. Morons writing for the newspapers and magazines and morons writing popular novels have contributed toward the popular misunderstanding of the significance of the germ theory. It was in vain that a considerable share of the population takes the "best seller" in the fiction line for further proof of the utter lack of a real sense of humor in the Wisenheimer family. A Wisenheimer, perhaps I should repeat, is a person who knows a good many things which ain't so—uffers from Billings club foot. Often he is high hat. Always he is complacent. He is the fall guy for the legitimate crook. He patronizes the plausible charlatan, the glib and gilded, in health and in sickness. He supports the agencies through which the charlatans reach his pocket book. He hasn't enough brains to know when he is being done good, grammatically or ungrammatically. In short he is a perfect boob, and I repeat that the psychological tests of drafted men at the time of the world war proved we have many millions of such boobies in the U. S. A., physically grown-up men and women with minds of 12-year-old children.

What's the matter with our system of popular education?

What has become of our boasted sense of humor?

Senator Morgan Urges The Distillation Bill

Editor Constitution: Your issue of July 20 through error gives me credit for introducing the senate bill to permit the distillation of ethyl alcohol from sawdust, slabs and wood chips.

While accepting the teaching of that Master of all teachers and one precept that He laid down for all of us was to render unto Caesar the things that belonged to Caesar.

This bill was introduced by Senator Tamm, of the fourth district, and I merely lent my aid to a measure that will mean so much for Georgia, not merely Senator Pickens, but for the entire state, and the entire coastal plain of Georgia.

This bill has the endorsement of the W. C. T. U. It has my endorsement and I am as staunch a prohibitionist as there is in Georgia and my people have been before me.

The first prohibition measure ever drawn in America was drawn up by the Salzburger Colony, who settled on the banks of the Savannah river at Ebenezer, and sent it to the high commissioners in England, praying that spiritual liquors and slaves would not be permitted in the colony of Georgia, and they were my ancestors.

This bill is the outcome of much labor and study and will enable a business that has up to the present been a losing one to make a reasonable profit on their investment. It is a measure that will mean so much for Georgia, not merely Senator Pickens, but for the entire state, and the entire coastal plain of Georgia.

It has been discovered now, that those who are engaged in manufacturing and distilling of turpentine from waste wood products such as stumps, slabs and sawdust. It has been discovered now, that those who are engaged in manufacturing and distilling of turpentine from waste wood products such as stumps, slabs and sawdust.

This bill provides that the distillation of this alcohol is to be done in strict conformity with the federal prohibition regulations. Every safeguard will be thrown around the process, and it is not, at least, the person in whose interest this bill has been drawn at the highest class. Their plant at Brunswick, Ga., means to Brunswick what the cotton mill means to Greenville, and the same is true of other cities; what the quackeries mean to Canton, and what the cement plants and vitrified brick plants mean to Rockmart. I pray that members of the house will view it in that broad light of progress and with willingness to help all sections of Georgia.

SPANISH RECEIVE RIFFIAN ENVOYS

Paris, August 3.—(AP)—General Pigno de Rivera, head of the Spanish military directorate, received two emissaries from Abd-el-Krim, the Riffian leader at Tetuan, in Spanish Morocco Saturday, it was learned from dispatches reaching the foreign office today.

The Riffian emissaries later went to Gibraltar presumably to confer with Senor Don Horacio Echevarria, a millionaire ship-owner of Bilbao, who has acted as intermediary between the Spanish government and Abd-el-Krim.

The French foreign office believes the Riffian leader is maneuvering so as to avoid officially receiving the peace terms of his enemies. He is presumed to know already what terms the Spanish and French are ready to offer, and to find them insufficient because they would not give full independence to the Rif.

It is believed in official circles here that Abd-el-Krim does not want to be placed in the position where he will have to give a flat refusal and so bring the negotiations to a halt.

The Spanish and French naturally do not want to appear in the light of soliciting peace by formally presenting peace terms to Abd-el-Krim when they have not been requested.

FORMER PRESIDENT OF ECUADOR DENIES HE IS "BANISHED"

New Orleans, August 3.—(AP)—Leonidas Plaza, twice president of Ecuador, is not a political refugee and was not "banished" from his native country by political enemies, he said here tonight, upon his arrival on the steamer Caringo, accompanied by Mrs. Plaza, their eight children, a governess and a retinue of servants.

The former executive, while reticent on conditions in Ecuador, asserted that his visit to the United States was simply a pleasure trip, and said that he was taking his children to California, where they will be educated.

Recent news dispatches indicated that Senor Plaza had been requested to leave Ecuador.

MAYOR'S VETOES UPHELD MONDAY BY CITY COUNCIL

All vetoes of Mayor Walter A. Sims, including that of a resolution requesting the legislature not to place financial control of the schools back under council without approval of the people, were filed by city council Monday afternoon without debate.

A battle had been expected on the school paper, as the chief executive, in vetoing it, came out flat-footed as favoring councilman control of school department's finances. Councilman John A. White, author of the paper, was not present Monday, and the motion of Alderman J. Allen Couch to file the veto was adopted without discussion.

Papers vetoed by the mayor and killed by council's failure to act included a proposal to refund part of a license fee to the vocational employment bureau; allowing the Congregational Theological seminary to pay its paving assessment on a 25 per cent basis; sale of the city disposal plant to J. A. Couch for $2,150; and a bill which would have made approval of any subdivision plat by council automatic acceptance of streets in those subdivisions offered the city by owners or developers of the property.

PLAN TO ELIMINATE FEES FOR BUILDING PERMITS OPPOSED

A measure to eliminate fees for building permits, effective January 1, was reported adversely Monday by the ordinance committee of city council, but at the request of several council members, was sent back to that committee for further consideration. The paper was introduced two weeks ago by Councilman John A. White.

NEW CITY GARAGE AND ROCK CRUSHING PLANT IS SOUGHT

Plans for a rock-crushing plant, to be owned and operated by the city, and for a new city garage were made known Monday when Alderman W. B. Parvall, Councilman John A. White and Councilman Wiley L. Moore were authorized by council to investigate sites for both the rock crushing plant and garage.

The rock-crushing plant would be utilized in preparing paving material, and would save the city a large amount annually, it is claimed. Plans for a new garage have been under consideration for some time, as the one now in use does not provide adequate space, and is not centrally located.

SLASH IN PAVING COSTS IS URGED FOR 4 CHURCHES

Requests that all churches on Ponce de Leon avenue be permitted to pay assessments for paving of that street on a basis of 25 per cent were introduced in city council Monday and were referred to the street committee.

COUNCIL REFUSES TO OPPOSE NINTH WARD LINE CHANGE

Request to the legislature not to pass a bill now pending in the house, which would exclude property in the ninth ward owned by W. A. Hancock from the city limits, was killed Monday when council voted to table it.

Councilman Horace Russell, who introduced the paper, explained that the property was brought into the city last year because it is well developed, and has all city conveniences.

WHITEFOORD AVE. AND PETERS ST. WORK CONTINUES

Continuation of work on widening and improving of Peters street and extension of Whitefoord avenue, both of which will be rushed to completion, were assured Monday when city council appointed W. T. Buchanan, city investigator, to negotiate with owners of property necessary to the improvements.

The required land on Whitefoord avenue is owned by the Druid Hills Land company, while a number of individuals control that on Peters street.

NEGROES PROTEST GRANGER STREET PAVING TO COUNCIL

When a delegation of negroes, headed by A. Gray, appeared on the floor of city council to protest against paving of Granger street, the ordinance awarding the contract was referred to the street committee for another public hearing. The negroes contended that a majority of property owners on the street are opposed to the paving.

HEARING IS SET FOR EAST POINT FOR MERGER PROPOSAL

Hearing on a bill to authorize a referendum election in East Point on the question of merging that territory with the city of Atlanta will be held by the house committee on municipal government at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday, it was announced Monday.

150 MEN RECRUITED TO FIGHT RIFFIANS MUTINY UPON SHIP

New York, August 3.—One man is missing and five others are in chains after an alleged mutiny of 150 men, said to have been recruited in South America and Cuba for service against the Riffs in Spanish Morocco, aboard the Royal Spanish Mail line steamer Antonio Lopez, now lying in New York harbor.

Trouble broke out aboard the ship Sunday night when the men, whom Captain A. Muslera declared were signed to fight in the Spanish army, attempted to break for freedom. While the crew and officers fought them off with clubs, police reserves were summoned.

Clambering aboard the vessel, police seized into the fray, swinging their fight sticks and battering down the infuriated men.

FIVE PERSONS HURT AS MOB BREAKS UP MEETING OF KLAN

Westwood, Mass., August 3.—(AP)—Five persons, including two women and a boy, were cut and bruised, three men were arrested and a farm house of Stephen Illsley in the Islington district was broken up by a mob of 500 persons. The meeting was the first attempted since the state police announced that the department no longer would afford police protection to Klan gatherings.

A stone thrown at the speaker's stand started the rioting and instantly the air was filled with missiles. The three local constables were unable to restore order. Many of the klansmen reached their automobiles and escaped, but about a score took refuge in the Illsley house which was immediately surrounded and stoned. Every window in the house was shattered and much of the furniture was ruined by a hail of stones and sticks. A score of police from three towns, aided by four state troops, finally dispersed the crowd and escorted the klansmen to safety.

BOSTON BUILDING STRIKE IS AVERTED

Boston, August 3.—(AP)—Announcement that a strike of the building trades workers in Boston has been averted was made today by the state board of conciliation and arbitration after a conference attended by representatives of the employers and the building trades council, the organization of employees. A plan whose terms were not made public was proposed by the board and accepted by both parties. The employers previously had refused the request of the building laborers for arbitration of their wage demands.

LEHN & FINK COMPANY STOCK OFFERED TODAY

Goldman, Sachs & Co., Lehman Brothers and Bond & Goodwin, Inc., today announces the offering to investors of 235,000 shares of common stock of the new Lehn & Fink Products company, at a price of $36.50 a share. The Lehn & Fink Products corporation is a new holding company organized to own and manage Lehn & Fink, Inc., and A. S. Hinds company. It is expected that the new company will commence the payment of dividends in the near future at the annual rate of $3 a share on the common stock.

The consolidated balance sheet of the new company as of July 1, 1925, after giving effect to the sale of common stock and other transactions, shows current assets of $1,227,311.

Sportively Speaking- By H.C. HAMILTON Another Little Fellow. Heyder on Baseball. The Minors, Stepping Stones.

SPINNERS, the new shortstop who comes to the Crackers from the Virginia league, was so much the life of the party during the preliminary practice at Spiller field Monday that before the ball game was over the fans were pleading with Bert Niehoff to let the recruit take up the position at shortstop. If the Crackers hadn't lost their first game in nine starts Monday, however, the chances are it still would be days before the newcomer would be sent in at a regular position.

Baseball, above all sports, has its superstitions, and one of them is that a winning combination should not be broken up. Hans Wagner himself probably could not have broken into the Crackers infield so long as a winning streak was in progress. Now that a loss has intervened Spinnars may be given his first chance before a home audience this afternoon.

From the stands Spinnars does not appear to be any larger than Rabbit Marvelli or Spark Plug Adams of the Cubs, and they are very small as ball players go. He is fast, though, extremely so, and has a sure pair of hands. His throwing drew gasps of astonishment. How a man with such small shoulders could get a ball away with such speed was almost incredible, but he did it and he was accurate. If he plays ball in a real ball game as he does in practice he will be a big asset to the Crackers. At any rate, he is a most welcome addition to the infield material now on hand.

IT ISN'T always the husky who turns out to be a great ball player. Some of the finest infielders recorded in the history of the national game have been small men. John McGraw, one of the greatest and hardest-playing third basemen baseball ever produced, is small, and so is Hugh Jennings, who played shortstop alongside McGraw for the old Baltimore Orioles. Marvelli and Adams are small, but they are very fast, and in his later years has taken on considerable flesh. Dick Rudolph, who practically pitched the Boston Braves into the 1914 National league championship, is not a big man. Frank Frisch is of average size only. On the other hand, many of the stars have been big men. Hornsby, Lajoie, Sam Crawford, Ty Cobb, Hans Wagner and many others are men of above average size. The one thing that counts in the little ones, but since we incline to the half-pint size we like to point to little champions.

JOHN HEYDER, talking of baseball, about which he certainly knows something, maintains that the big leagues must in the future look to the colleges to develop ball players instead of depending upon the minor leagues as they have in the past. Prices in the minor leagues, John says, are getting too high.

There is something in what Heyder says on the question, but he neglects an important circumstance, which is that the average college ball player is far from big league size and must be given training in the minors before the rough points have been knocked off.

IT IS not always that a ball player comes out of college unfit to play major league baseball, but the casualness with which he does come out is a fact. Many ball players can be found in either major league right now who didn't get there through a course in the minors. They are very few. Frank Frisch is one. Eddie Collins was a collegian. George Uhle is a product of the Cleveland sand lots. Both Sewalls at Cleveland went into action direct from the University of Alabama. George Sisler was at the University of Michigan. The great University of Michigan, Eddie Plank and Christy Mathewson were college graduates, but they were considerable training before they were ready to step out in earnest.

Of course, these men are real stars. They are of the best, but just as many, yes, a great many more, have used the minor leagues as their stepping stones. Joe Jackson, in fact, couldn't even sign his own name until his wife taught him to write, yet he was, in my opinion, the greatest hitter baseball ever has produced. When I say hitter I don't mean he was better than a considerable long string of safeties. When Joe Jackson hit a baseball, which was at the rate of about 400 every year, there was no doubt about it. The ball traveled.

The minor leagues will continue to feed the majors, but the higher classed minors have reached a point where they are almost major themselves. One cannot blame a baseball club for not signing a town of a like size for declining to break up a baseball club just because some major league wants a star player. Some minor league towns can pay almost as much salary to a ball player as the small major cities. Salary limitations are the sole restrictions.

MISS SIEDERLE SEEDS COURT DELAYED STARS LEFT AGAIN IN MEET

Boulogne, France, August 3.—(AP)—A French woman tomorrow morning is to make her first bid for fame in this year's competition by members of her sex to swim the English channel. Miss Lillian Harrison, the Argentine girl, already has essayed the trip and failed, and Gertrude Ederle, the American, is waiting only a cessation in the turbulence of the sea to make her start.

The French woman, Miss Jane Sion, purposes to take the water at 7:15 a.m. tomorrow morning, from Cape Gris-Nez and try to reach Dover Cliffs on the English channel, some 22 miles distant.

Miss Ederle, acting on the advice of her trainer, James Wolff, has decided to postpone her attempt until the end of the present week or the beginning of next week, owing to the prevailing tidal conditions. Miss Harrison, who is recuperating from her trying effort in the nautical marathon down the River Seine Sunday, in which she finished fourth, may not be ready for another attack on the channel for a week.

The French, American and Argentine mermaids have taken the entire coast from Boulogne to Calais by storm. More interest is being evinced in this year in the channel swim than ever before. The sailors and fishermen along the coast all are "pulling" for the first woman in the world to cross the channel. Miss Ederle's powerful combination crawl and tugboat work has made her the favorite over Miss Harrison, who uses the overarm, and Miss Harrison, who swims the classic breast stroke.

New York, August 3.—Good rains Sunday, some of which extended further south in Texas than any last week, explained an opening decline of 10 to 17 points in cotton today. All of the loss was regained later, the market selling 1/8 to 1/4 points above Saturday's close. Final prices were 4 points higher to 5 lower and a trifle under the top for the day.

Business throughout the day was small and chiefly for the local speculative account. Light hedge pressure from the south, the partly responsible for the strength of the afternoon market in connection with trade buying and covering by local short accounts. But even the loss was not due to attract outside interest, partly due to the government crop report, which will be issued next Saturday at 1 o'clock. New York cotton futures were quiet.

Various private crop reports published during the day were not considered a fair indication of what might be expected from the forthcoming bureau report, as most of them were compiled before the beneficial effects of Texas and Oklahoma rains had been measured. The average of these so far issued is 66 for condition, with a crop indication of 13,750,000 bales. Most guesses of the next government report have favored the demand, but larger than the last estimate, at about 13,750,000 bales, allowing for the improvement in the southwest after the recommendation.

Here and there throughout the belt, occasional complaints marred the generally favorable run of news, such as reports from Oklahoma that army worms and boll weevils have begun to attack the bottom crops, and criticism of the Texas situation. The trade and stock interests accepted the outlook with optimism.

According to the weekly weather forecast, thunderstorms are possible in southern portions of the west, but states the latter part of the week, which would be favorable.

October contracts, after selling at 23.80, rose to 24.10 and closed 24.10. Port receipts, 1,528; United States port stocks, 202,992; exports, 10,717, making 32,087 so far this season.

SPOTS IN NEW YORK.

New York, August 3.—Cotton spot quiet; December 16.11.

PRICES FLUCTUATE IN NARROW RANGE.

New Orleans, August 3.—The cotton market had an easy opening, first trades showing losses of 10 to 14 points. Liverpool being closed the market at the start was influenced by rather good rains in Texas on Sunday and last night. Prices rallied a few points right after the call but soon eased off again. October traded down to 23.30 and December and January to 23.43 and 22.43, respectively. Below Saturday's close. There appeared to have been heavy rains in southern Texas but some traders contended their effect would be to diminish open cotton by lowering the grade.

The market ruled quiet nearly all morning, but prices gradually improved on the national position of the market which had become weaker by recent rather liberal selling. October traded up to 23.50 and December to 23.65 and at mid-session the market was steady around the high points. A prominent private authority made the condition average 65.7, indicating a crop of 13,780,000 bales. The market continued to rule very quiet after mid-session and prices fluctuated in narrow limits within the previous range, but after a rather high, October did not trade below 23.46 nor did December drop below 23.61. The market is beginning to feel the influence of the next government report due next Saturday at 1 o'clock and consequently there is little disposition to trade. Exports today, 10,717 bales.

SPOTS IN NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, August 3.—Spot cotton closed steady five points down. Sales on the spot, 10 to 15 bales; low middling, 22.95; middling, 23.95; good middling, 24.55; receipts, 581; stock, 39,921.

PUBLIC UTILITIES HIGHER ON CURB

THE DAY IN FINANCE

R. L. BARNUM

New York, August 3.—Unlike other Mondays for many weeks and months, the stock market opened strong this morning and remained so with advances of from 1 to 3 points or more in such stocks as Steel common, Harvester, White Motors, Mack Truck, Woolworth, Texas Gulf Sulphur, Can and Sears-Roebuck. General Electric advanced 10 points, and the market closed with a new high for all time. Short covering was responsible for most of the buying. In the late trading the stock market quieted down when all money, which opened at 41 against last week's ruling rate of 4 per cent, advanced to 44, with 5 and 6 months' money advancing to 44, and some banks asking 43.

Steel common was strong on rumors that the unfilled order statement for the month of July would show a loss of 200,000 tons or less. It was in March that the company began to report monthly decreases in unfilled orders, the loss for that month amounting to 421,000 tons. Since March, however, the monthly losses have been decreasing.

Increasing Productions.

Rumors were heard here today that the steel mills are now increasing production. It would not be surprising to hear soon of an upward price movement in finished steel products. Lead prices advanced 20 points, and some sellers of copper were asking 144 cents. For a fortnight or more the price of copper has been hanging at 141 cents.

Imports of steel products for the half year ending with June showed a very large increase, according to figures received here today. The total of 487,251 tons being taken in against only 286,590 for the first half of 1924.

Steel-Roebuck's strength today was due to the statement of July sales put out by the company, which were $17,075,000, an increase of $2,658,000, or 27 per cent, over the same month a year ago. For the seven months, sales were $135,315,000, a gain of $14,081,000, or 14 per cent. These figures beat out the report received here today that the company's general trade is picking up, with signs of still more improvement in the immediate future. From many different parts of the country it was reported today that farmers were buying more goods and that merchants were planning to increase the size of their inventories.

Outlook Is Satisfactory.

The outlook for the remainder of 1925 is for very satisfactory money conditions, a large volume of new general trade, the Harvard Economy Service stated today. However, it was added that hand-to-mouth buying is still prevalent.

Representatives of the Baldwin government are now in this country making a close study of the food situation here, for the purpose of enabling the British government to buy food in large quantities and sell it to labor at cost, according to information which found its way to Wall Street today from Washington. This certainly would be a departure for England, but after what happened there last week in the agreement to subsidize the coal operators to prevent a strike, Wall Street believes that almost anything might happen.

New York, August 3.—Unlike other Mondays for many weeks and months, the stock market opened strong this morning and remained so with advances of from 1 to 3 points or more in such stocks as Steel common, Harvester, White Motors, Mack Truck, Woolworth, Texas Gulf Sulphur, Can and Sears-Roebuck. General Electric advanced 10 points, and the market closed with a new high for all time. Short covering was responsible for most of the buying. In the late trading the stock market quieted down when all money, which opened at 41 against last week's ruling rate of 4 per cent, advanced to 44, with 5 and 6 months' money advancing to 44, and some banks asking 43.

Steel common was strong on rumors that the unfilled order statement for the month of July would show a loss of 200,000 tons or less. It was in March that the company began to report monthly decreases in unfilled orders, the loss for that month amounting to 421,000 tons. Since March, however, the monthly losses have been decreasing.

Increasing Productions.

Rumors were heard here today that the steel mills are now increasing production. It would not be surprising to hear soon of an upward price movement in finished steel products. Lead prices advanced 20 points, and some sellers of copper were asking 144 cents. For a fortnight or more the price of copper has been hanging at 141 cents.

Imports of steel products for the half year ending with June showed a very large increase, according to figures received here today. The total of 487,251 tons being taken in against only 286,590 for the first half of 1924.

Gray Haired People Need Only this Clean, Colorless Liquid

Youthful Looks Quickly Return

Letters like the following tell what the clean, colorless liquid, known as Kolor-Bak, is doing for gray haired men and women.

"Only a short time ago my hair was quite gray and becoming grayer. It was falling out. My scalp itched and dandruff appeared.

"Only a few applications of Kolor-Bak stopped the itching and dandruff. My hair soon stopped coming out. Most wonderful of all, however, is that my hair is again its original shade. I look ten years younger."

Kolor-Bak is the most satisfactory substitute for the natural hair pigmentation. With its use, the hair not only takes on its former shade; it acquires a beautiful lustre and softness. Kolor-Bak also removes dandruff, stops itching of the scalp and keeps the hair from falling out.

If you are gray, ask for a bottle of Kolor-Bak. No sample of hair required—no tests to make—as this clean, colorless liquid is effective on any gray hair. Your money returned instantly if not satisfactory.

Make a Savings Account Pay Your Fixed Expenses

ALL of us have certain fixed expenses. Insurance, taxes, rent, vacation, take certain sums at certain periods.

The easy way to be sure that you have the money to take care of these expenses when due is to make weekly deposits in the Savings Department of the Citizens and Southern Bank.

Member
Federal Reserve
System

Your Insurance Premiums amount to say, $100 per year, taxes of $50, and other things bring the total up to $300. These things seem to have the habit of coming due at the same time, and it is hard for most of us to have the money all at once. But it is not hard to deposit $6.00 each week. That amount put into the Savings Account will take care of the $300 and, after we have credited you with compound interest on July 1st and January 1st will leave you a balance.

If you will open an account in the Savings Department of either of our four Atlanta offices before the close of business on Thursday, August 6th, we will pay you interest from August 1.

sin, said today at the round table conference on mineral resources as a world factor.

"We must rely on other sources in the face of the growing demand. The British empire is rich in oil deposits, and some Englishmen say she will eventually pay the United States her war debt from these resources. The world's demand for petroleum will continue steadily and we must face this fact."

"For one reason or another, the petroleum development of the world is not proceeding as rapidly as the situation seems to require. Among the reasons is the closed door. The present tendency is toward the further closing of national doors, with the result that the impact of growing world demand is causing more and more political friction."

CHICAGO CITIZENS TALK OVER RADIO TO ARCTIC CIRCLE

Chicago, August 4.—(AP)—Chicago conversed with the Arctic circle by radio early today when newspapermen here asked and received answers to five questions put to the MacMillan Arctic-navy expedition through the Zenith Radio corporation on a wave length of 40 meters.

Twenty minutes elapsed between the propounding of the first question and its answer. At 12:20 a. m., eastern standard time, the newspapermen from five stations asked questions.

"Have you reserved seats for use when Washington visits the world's series?"

"Afraid not. Be back in time to help Washington root for Griffith. My confidence in this fair play of ice and snow to those at home—McDon-

"aid," was the answer from 9-XX, the radio-casting station of the expedition at Etah, Greenland, about 12 degrees of the North Pole.

Faint music, apparently of a phonograph, was heard from the expedition before the questions were asked.

defeating an anti-evolution law can be attributed to developments at Dayton."

Scopes left Chattanooga today for his home in Kentucky. He said he had no immediate plans for the future, adding that he had refused numerous offers from moving-picture companies, lecture bureaus and others who wish to exploit the world-wide publicity he received during the Dayton trial. He hopes to take advantage, he said, of the scholarship to be arranged for him under the chairmanship of David Starr Jordan.

HOOR IN MORGUE WITH AUTO VICTIM TO PUNISH DRIVERS

Indianapolis, August 3.—(AP)—An hour alone in the morgue with the body of the person for whose death he was responsible will be a part of punishment inflicted henceforth upon any Indianapolis motorist who brings death to a pedestrian or other motorist by careless or reckless driving, or by driving while intoxicated.

This punishment was devised by Chief of Police Herman E. Rykehoff and Dr. William Depfers, deputy coroner.

The officials believe such a vigil will prove as effective a cure for reckless or illegal operation of a motor car as a prison sentence or fine.

CAMPS AND LINDLEYS PLAN BIG REUNION

The annual reunion of the Camp-Lindley families will be held at Grant park in Atlanta on Wednesday, August 12, and all members of these families are urged to be present.

There were more than 800 at the reunion last year and it is expected that many more will be there for the 1925 reunion, according to those in charge.

BODY OF YOUNG GIRL CARRIED TO FARRAR

The body of Miss Iris Alton Roberts, 19 years old, who died Monday at the residence, 90 Gaston street, will be carried Wednesday to Farrar, Ga., for funeral and interment. She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Florence Roberts; a brother, J. C. Roberts; a sister, Mrs. J. R. Cofer, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Harper, of Farrar, Ga.

OPERATORS REFUSE DEMANDS OF LEWIS

Philadelphia, August 3.—(AP)—Samuel D. Warriner, one of the leaders of the anthracite coal operators, in a letter to John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, made public tonight, said that the membership of the mine owners' subcommittee meeting with the miners is authorized fully to speak for the industry, and its personnel cannot be changed.

The letter is a reply to one written last week in which Mr. Lewis insisted that Mr. Warriner and W. J. Richards, president of the Philadelphia and Reading coal and iron corporation, participate in the wage negotiations at Atlantic City. Mr. Lewis referred to the present make-up of the operators' subcommittee as a "jury of supernumeraries."

Mr. Warriner in his reply repeated the offer of the operators to agree to no suspension when the wage contract expires August 31, and to arbitrate matters not agreed to at that time. Mr. Warriner further said that if the miners mean to break off negotiations if the personnel of the committee is not changed, Mr. Lewis is "assuming a grave responsibility."

Mr. Warriner's official position was interpreted by responsible spokesmen for the miners here as virtually clinching likelihood of a break when the conference is resumed tomorrow afternoon.

John P. White, a former president of the United Mine Workers, joined the miners at the Hotel Ambassador today.

Resumption of the scale conference, originally set for tomorrow morning, today was moved ahead to the afternoon as a convenience to conference who had gone home over the week-end.

NEGRO DRIVER HELD UNDER HEAVY BOND FOLLOWING CRASH

Mathewson Jones, colored, who is said to live on Echo street, was being held in Fulton tower Monday under $1,500 bond on charges of driving an automobile while intoxicated, wreckless driving and speeding. He was arrested Sunday afternoon following a collision with a police car on the Bankhead highway.

Policemen J. W. Allen, Tom Davis and Arthur Atkinson, occupants of the police machine, said that the negro careened against their car and practically demolished it. The negro is said to have attempted to escape, but was captured by officers after they had commandeered a passing car.

"Bunco" Lieutenant To Assist His Wife In Realty Business

W. Clyde Smith, chief aide of Floyd Woodward in the so-called "bunco syndicate," which was broken up about five years ago, has left Atlanta for Asheville, N. C., where he will assist his wife in the promotion of real estate properties, according to Assistant Solicitor Ed Stephens, of Fulton superior court.

Smith pleaded guilty last Thursday before Judge E. D. Thomas in Fulton superior court to three indictments charging larceny after trust and paid fines aggregating approximately $3,000 in lieu of serving three years in the penitentiary. He also is said to have paid a $5,000 bond forfeiture in the state court, $473.85 for expenses incurred by the county in attempting to locate him and a federal fine of $300 on charges of using the mails to defraud.

22ND REGIMENT BACK AT FORT McPHERSON

The twenty-second infantry, United States army, arrived at Fort McPher-son late Monday afternoon from Camp McClellan, Ala., where the soldiers have been quartered for several weeks. The regiment arrived in charge of Colonel Dwight F. Ryther, who assumes immediate command of all troops at Fort McPher-son, it was stated. The regiment entrained at Camp McClellan early Monday morning.

During the absence of Colonel Ryther and his regiment, troops at Fort McPher-son have been under temporary command of Captain Grover C. Graham.

SHOWERS TODAY Rise in Temperature and Rain Is Predicted for City.

Showers this afternoon with a slight rise in temperature is the forecast for today by C. F. von Herrmann, head of the local weather bureau. "The temperature probably will range from 65 to 85 degrees," he stated. Readings Monday showed a high point of 80, reached about 3 o'clock in the afternoon after a climb from 68 degrees in the morning.

Here Man Found Nature in Generous Mood and made a wonderland!

FOR ages Nature has been lavishly partial to these broad and rolling slopes that now are Whitfield Estates, on Sarasota Bay—with the richest of soils, most equable and delightful of climates, the consequent profusion of tropic green and bloom, and a location which for beauty can nowhere be surpassed.

Now man's skilled hand has added immeasurable touches of beauty and refinement, while adapting this beauty spot as a homeland by supplying every comfort and convenience.

Experienced Horticulturists

Under the expert supervision of Mr. B. F. Wilkinson, horticulturist and landscape architect of long and varied experience, beautification has sped steadily forward. With a large force of expert gardeners, he has planted thousands of trees, shrubs and flowers and the work will go zealously forward until the marvelously complete plans for the entire development have been carried out to the minutest detail.

Every imaginable variety of plant indigenous to the wondrous soil and climate has been planted—discreetly arranged with an eye ever to harmony and fittingness.

Palms of every description, Australian pine, hibiscus—red, salmon and peach-blow, single and double—crepe myrtle, bougainvillea, flame vines and a score of other smaller growths have been secured in abundance and are being given opportunity to flourish to fullest growth in this unequalled setting.

Visit Whitfield Estates—one view of its riotous beauty, one glimpse from the vantage of its hills out over the rolling sapphire waters, one scent of the salt-tanged gulf air as it blows in across the keys and the bay—and you too will understand why home lovers are flocking here, why homes are springing up over all its extent, why here is your opportunity, whether you wish to live gloriously or profit greatly.

A call at any of our offices will secure a trip to this marvelous spot for you—without obligation, of course.

BROWN MEMORIAL MOVE LAUNCHED IN UPPER HOUSE

Plans for erection of statues to Joseph E. Brown, war governor of Georgia in the sixties, and his wife, were disclosed Monday when a resolution was introduced in the house of representatives giving permission for erection of these memorials on the capitol lawn.

The resolution was introduced by the Fulton delegation. It gives permission to the executors of the estate of Julius L. Brown, eldest son of the governor, to erect the statues.

Under the will of Julius Brown, who died in 1918, two-thirds of his estate is bequeathed to Georgia Tech. It also directed the executor, his brother, Joseph M. Brown, to have the two statues referred to made and placed on the capitol lawn. Governor Brown, in addition to serving as governor during the war between the states, was at one time chief justice of the supreme court and also United States senator.

Modern 'Oliver Twist' Held While Officers Search for Directors

Oscar Magarb, 12 years old, who was arrested Sunday afternoon while driving a car said to have been stolen about an hour earlier from A. L. Parr, of 86 Hill street, is being held at the juvenile detention home in the belief that he has been used as a decoy by a gang of automobile thieves who have been operating in this vicinity for some time.

The boy has maintained a stubborn silence, but the police have expressed the opinion that later they will be able to obtain information from him which will lead to arrest of those who have been using him as a tool.

Lee Sun Fails To Appear in Court.

Lee Sun, Chinaman, convicted several months ago of shooting Charlie Troy, another Oriental, failed to appear Monday in Judge G. H. Howard's division of Fulton superior court to be resentenced after his motion for a new trial had been denied and his bond of $6,000 was ordered forfeited.

Sun was convicted several months ago of walking into the laundry operated by Troy and shooting the proprietor seven times. His first sentence was from 8 to 10 years on a charge of assault with intent to murder.

RUSH FOR AUTO TAGS

"Bargain Days" Bring 1,700 Customers To Capitol.

Since "bargain rates" went into effect Saturday, approximately 1,700 auto license tags have been sold, according to officials in the motor vehicle license tax department of the secretary of state's office.

Saturday marked the end of the first six months of the motor vehicle license fiscal year, and tags are now obtainable for half price. More than 800 applications were received by mail Monday, and the cashier's window at the secretary of state's office was surrounded all day by crowds of tag purchasers.

It is estimated approximately 250,000 tags will be sold throughout the whole year, for passenger cars and trucks.

Capital City Club Dance Proves Most Interesting Event of Day

The most important social event on the day's calendar is the dinner-dance atop the Capital City club, which is always attended by members of all ages, accompanied by their charming wives or sweethearts, or one of the many attractive visitors who have added so to the gaiety of the summer season's activities. In spite of the decided change in the weather this cool spot is universally popular, the tables being artistically decorated with late summer flowers and placed on the edge of the dance floor, where congenial groups of friends gather for a delightful evening's entertainment.

Another interesting dance will be that given at the Club de Vingt for the college contingent.

Mrs. George Caldwell Spier will be hostess at a bridge-tennis afternoon at the beautiful Druid Hills club, when Mrs. Francis Kelly, of Philadelphia, is to be honor guest.

A delightful affair of the day will be the bridge luncheon at which Miss Emily McPhail will entertain in honor of her guests, Miss Ruth Maddox, of Miami, and Miss Annette Leddon, of Marianna, Fla.

A marriage of interest to Atlantans will be that of Miss Grace McLarin, of Fairburn, and Alan Anderson Chivers, of Miami, which will take place in Fairburn this evening at 8 o'clock at the Methodist church. The wedding will unite two prominent families, and it is with regret that this popular couple will move to Miami to make their home.

Many other events of social importance will be featured on the calendar of today's happenings, visitors and their hostesses playing a prominent part in these activities. Club swimming pools, tennis courts and golf links are popular gathering places for members these delightfully cool days where one can enjoy a delicious repast on an attractive terrace, following a game of golf or tennis, or a refreshing swim.

Henderson-Matheny Wedding Will Be Event of Saturday

The marriage of Miss Leonora Henderson and Hollis Burnett Matheny, whose engagement was recently announced, will be an interesting event of Saturday, August 8, taking place at high noon in the First Baptist church. The Rev. Dr. C. W. Daniel, pastor of the church, will officiate.

The bride will be given in marriage by her uncle, Gene Maddox, and will be attended by her sister, Miss Mable Henderson, as maid of honor, and Mrs. Clyde Zirkle, matron of honor. Dr. William Henry Lawson will act as best man and the ushers will include MacKenzie Barnes, S. R. Styron, Henry Royce, of Cedartown, and Paul Burt.

Following the marriage service Mrs. Maude Maddox Pitts will entertain the bridal party and immediate families at an informal breakfast at her home on Ponce de Leon avenue.

Miss Henderson is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Maddox, pioneer and beloved citizens of this city. A beautiful bit of sentiment attached to the wedding ceremony is the fact that Mr. Maddox was chairman of the building fund at the time that the First Baptist church was built, where the marriage will take place.

On the return from a wedding trip, Mr. Matheny and his bride will be at home at 571 North Boulevard.

Prominent Atlantans Stage Entertainment on Shipboard.

Mrs. Willard Patterson and Mrs. Eugene Harrington, who are traveling in Europe, were instrumental in board ship on the Rotterdam for the benefit of disabled seamen and were successful in raising a sum considerably in excess of the profits from similar affairs on the Rotterdam, it being the custom to stage some such performance just before the end of each trip.

Mrs. Patterson, according to Mrs. Patterson, applied to the seamen's benefit fund the full knowledge derived from her varied experience in producing the Atlanta Junior League Follies.

These prominent Atlantans sailed from Hoboken on July 31 and landed at Plymouth after a voyage filled with sufficient variety in the weather to make the ship's log record many hours of "very rough sea."

Mrs. Patterson writes that the camera man was the first individual who spotted when we came aboard at Hoboken. He is William E. McInnes, born in England of Irish parents, and a veteran film man, who is making a pictorial record of the voyage to be used as exploitation for the Holland-American line, the Rotterdam being the biggest passenger boat under that flag.

The commission to do 1,000 feet for the Holland-American line, featuring the Rotterdam, brought Mr. McCormack on his first visit to the United States, but his knowledge of American-made pictures dates back to the first pictures we sent into the United Kingdom, when one of its countrywomen, Florence Turner, was the bright particular star of Vitaphone. He has been in the game from the beginning and declares an unbounded admiration for the American producer—and for the moneyed interests that have backed American efforts.

Your Health

is affected by wrong hygienic habits

This NEW way in solving woman's oldest hygienic problem will mean much to you

SIXTY per cent of many women's disorders, doctors now point out, are often traceable to wrong hygienic methods.

Now there is a new way... a way that supplants the dangers and uncertainties of the old-time sanitary pad.

Physicians urge it. Women's doctors have adopted it. Hygienic authorities employ it. And your own peace of mind demands it. For it offers charm and immaculacy under any and all circumstances.

The name is Kotex... a method scientifically right.

It absorbs 5 times the moisture of the ordinary cotton pad. And that means great protection.

It is as easily disposed of as a piece of tissue—that ends an old-time embarrassment.

It is deodorized. And that prevents danger of offense.

You can get it at any drug or department store. Just by saying "Kotex." And that banishes the embarrassment of asking for a "sanitary pad."

Eight in every ten women in the better walks of life have adopted it. Which proves its benefits.

It will mean much to you in health, in daintiness and protection. It proves old ways a needless folly.

KOTEX

PROTECTS—DEODORIZES

1 Protection: 5 times as absorbent as cotton pads. Absorbs 16 times its own weight in moisture and is scientifically deodorized.

E. Phillips Oppenheim

"What does any scientist want with them?" Paule replied, patiently. "I have, as you know quite well, made the human brain the study of my lifetime. 'Neurota' has been one fruit of my investigations."

Samuel reflected for a moment. "Sir Lawrence," he said, "I have been in the drug business since I was a lad. I have been at the back of a score of remedies, each one of which has brought us in a small fortune. We never bothered about employing a highly paid chemist or indulging in research work of any sort. We just took an ordinary physician's prescription for any of the ailments of life, altered it a little to our liking, found with the original ones, bought them the cheapest drugs which corresponded in the best markets, and turned the stuff out wholesale. That's how our business was built up."

"That sounds unenterprising, but it may be the case so far as you are concerned," Paule replied. "On the other hand, it was an experimenting firm of wholesale druggists who discovered antitoxin."

"I don't care a damn about antitoxin," Samuel declared. "I hate your laboratories. This sort of thing doesn't go with our business. I told Joseph so years ago. I told him to get out of the business."

"I am sorry," was Paule's cold rejoinder. "Do you desire to give any practical effect to this conversation?" Judith laid her hand soothingly upon her uncle's.

"Sir Lawrence," she said, "my uncle is naturally much upset by all these strange happenings. I am sure he does not wish to be in any way offensive or to dispute the fact that your experiments have been of great service to the firm. At the same time it is his wish that they should be conducted not in private but in the laboratories of the firm."

"My agreement," Paule reminded her, "gives me the use of my own laboratories, with every facility for carrying on research work outside my duties as chemist to the firm. I understand from your uncle that it is his wish to alter the arrangement."

"I can tell you exactly what it is he wants," Judith replied. "I am not sure that it is unreasonable. He desires to have access to your laboratories and to be informed precisely as to the nature of your research work."

"I see," Paule murmured. "Does he realize that Lord Honerton never expressed any such desire?"

"My father is no longer here," she pointed out, "and my uncle has assumed the responsibilities of control. After a moment's hesitation, 'that I, myself, on a certain glimpse into a somewhat terrifying glimpse into your private laboratory.'"

"What is your own feeling in the matter?" he inquired. "I think it would be as well if you needed to my Uncle Samuel's wishes," she answered.

"Either that or close the laboratories," Samuel intervened, harshly. "I am not compelled to accept either course," Paule observed. "My agreement."

"Damn your agreement!" Samuel interrupted, leaning forward. "Is that plain enough? I represent the board of directors who own this business. Your laboratories are part of it. I desire to investigate their contents."

Paule for the first time smiled. "Well," he said, "under some conditions I might feel disposed to resent this attitude. As it is, I must, I suppose, make allowances for it. I will conduct you over my laboratories. You will, however, that you are going to be disappointed. You will discover nothing of my experiments. Will you come with me now?"

"This instant, sir," Samuel assented, rising. Judith caught the glimmer of Paule's smile, half challenging, half contemptuous, as he threw open the door of his private laboratory, and the sudden impulse of faintness passed. She clutched her uncle's arm, however, as they entered the room with its marble basins, marble slabs, and shelves whose ghastly burden was fully exposed. Samuel apparently felt nothing but blank amazement.

"I do not understand this," he declared. "What have these skeletons and heads to do with our business of making drugs?"

"It is not necessary that there should be any connection," Paule answered, coldly. "I am perfectly free to pursue here any independent research to which I am attracted. As a matter of fact, however, as you may judge from these harmless objects," he added, pointing to a row of skulls, "I am greatly interested in the brain and the nervous system, and it was in this room that I conceived the idea of 'Neurota.'"

"But these skeletons," Judith faltered. "They are months old," he observed carelessly. "I have had a human head here, though not so long ago, practically quivering still with life. It is then that one has a chance. It is in the transition period between life and death that one may perhaps stumble upon some of the yet undiscovered secrets of science."

He led them through an inner room, lined on all four sides with bookcases from floor to ceiling. There were volumes of every age and of every quality of binding. Judith read the titles of one or two of them. "The mind, always the mind!" she exclaimed. "What has the mind to do with actual diseases, Sir Lawrence?"

"More than you or most people imagine," he answered. "I would even go so far as to suggest to you that if any startling discoveries are made during the next decade they will be made in this field rather than in the field of surgery. The will is a great force in the dissemination or the prevention of disease."

"Have you anything else to show us?" Judith asked, a little abruptly. "My rest chamber," he replied, throwing open the door of the third apartment. "There is nothing else."

They both glanced around the empty room with its solitary hard couch, its atmosphere of chill negation. Samuel was becoming impatient. "You are a man of strange tastes, Sir Lawrence," he said, looking at him from underneath his bushy eyebrows.

Paule shrugged his shoulders. "Not so strange to any one who understands," he replied. "I do not pretend to explain everything to you. It is not necessary. You have asked to be allowed to inspect the apartments where I pursue my research investigations. I have granted your request. The private laboratory is also at your service. You will find nothing there but drugs in various stages of mixing and decomposition."

"Very well," Samuel said, "let us go." "If your curiosity is now completely satisfied," Paule suggested, "would you mind telling me why you have insisted upon making this investigation into what I might term my private affairs? My discoveries, so far as they have gone, have been of immense service to the firm. Of what am I suspected?"

One of those sudden and entirely transforming changes which seemed part of her versatile personality swept over Judith. She passed her arm through his in friendly fashion; the clasp of it was almost affectionate. "Don't be foolish," she begged. "We are just beside ourselves, all of us. We are like a family smitten with madness. We scarcely know where to look or what to suspect or whom."

A messenger from the cashier's department came in urgent haste to Samuel. Judith lingered in the large outside sitting room and moved to the big window. Below, the factory proper stretched out in two great wings. The fog had slightly increased and lights flashed through rows of innumerable windows. In the distance was the dull throb of an enormously powerful engine. A fleet of drays were drawn up around the yard. There was everywhere a sense of movement, of tremendous, pulsating energy. Judith's eyes were almost the eyes of a mystic as she looked downward.

Paule shook his head, but remained silent. "I should like to destroy every brick and stone of these buildings," she cried, passionately, "pour all these drugs into the sewers, pension the work people with these idle millions, wipe out this whole place from the face of the earth. Then go somewhere, as far away as possible, and try to forget it all. These millions would crush anyone. They're a yoke on anyone's spirit. Then go somewhere or what it means, but we all believe it is because of this curse has come upon us."

Paule offered no sympathy, appeared wrapped still in an inviolable mantle of silence. For a single moment she seemed to have lost something of her youth; lost it without the faintest distraction from her beauty. It was intense feeling alone which had brought the lines to her face and the shadows under her eyes.

"I don't know why it is to you I always turn when I feel at the limit of all my resources," she exclaimed. "In a vague sort of way I am afraid of you and yet you are strong—the strongest person I know—and I have all the time the thought that there is something behind your speechless lips. Why don't you behave sometimes like a human being?"

"Once," he repeated bitterly. "You kissed me once. I shall never know a greater humiliation in my life than the memory of it. And afterwards you could stay."

He crushed the words to death upon her lips. Her long, throbbing body lay vibrating in his arms. By degrees the strength seemed to pass from her. She clung to him still with her arms, but the tension left her limbs. Then, without the slightest effort, he lifted and carried her to his easy chair, kissed her hands, and stood away.

"Rest for a few moments," he begged. "There is some one outside at the telephone."

She rested or dozed—she was strictly conscious which. She heard him speak on the telephone, heard him give brisk, curt orders to the people who had disturbed him. Presently he came back to her side.

"Lady Judith," he began. "She looked at him almost with terror. 'You're not going back?' she implored. 'I won't be called anything but Judith. I won't be treated any other way than as the woman who has given you the very breath of her body. Don't pretend that you don't understand,' she pleaded. 'I have been daring, people have gossiped about me, but you know as well as I do that no kiss has ever left my lips. And you—O, I know about your irrepressible, Lawrence Paule. I shall claim what belongs to me.'"

She watched the change in his face with joy, met his embrace half way. This time he held her with a new tenderness of which she was blissfully conscious. Without a single word from his lips she knew that victory was hers.

They dined together that night in a restaurant, a little off the beaten track; a place more frequented by the elite of Bohemia than by Judith's own immediate circle of friends. The vague of picture papers, however, and her own vivid characterization made it as difficult as ever for Judith to avoid recognition. Her broken engagement, and her great wealth, her reputation as a beauty, and the amazing tragedy of her life, all these things were in her eyes as to her distinguished looking but stern companion.

To all this Judith was as blissfully unconscious as Paule himself. The thing which she desired more than anything else in the world was to know over her path; a little intangible still, it seemed, but increasingly desirable. It was amazing to repeat to herself that in all the emotions of her noble life there had come to her nothing so wonderful as the joy of being alone with him, of knowing that she had broken through, to a great extent at any rate, the reserve and the mystery in which he had closed to her. She was stimulated by her happiness into one of her most brilliant moods. She talked lightly but incessantly and her conversation had little to do with the subject of her fingers, she leaned across and brought the subject of conversation around to his work.

"Did you see the Times this morning?" she inquired. "They are very curious indeed about the paper you are going to read at the Paris congress."

A shadow rested upon his face as he answered her. "I can't imagine how they know anything about it," he declared irritably. "The president of the congress dislikes all anticipations, and we are not obliged even to disclose our subject."

418 Are Killed By Automobiles In U. S. in Month

Washington, August 3.—(AP)—The number of deaths caused by automobiles in 57 American cities for which statistics are being currently collected by the commerce department, totaled 418 during the four weeks ending July 18 as compared with 417 in the previous four weeks ending June 20. Automobile fatalities in the same cities from January 1 to July 18 numbered 2,511, while the total for the year 1924 was 4,992, and for 1925 it was 4,527. The estimated population of the cities for which the figures are given is 26,821,000.

From New York, 501 deaths from automobile accidents had been reported up to July 18 this year and 70 for the latest four-week period. Other cities with the heaviest death tolls from automobiles are Chicago, with a total of 299 for the year and 45 for the last four weeks; Philadelphia, 149 and 33; Detroit, 127 and 25; Los Angeles, 122 and 14.

New Bedford, with but two deaths in the year to date, has the best record among the cities of more than 100,000 population, while seven cities over the 100,000 mark, Bridgeport, Norfolk, Oakland, Oklahoma City, Spokane, Springfield, Mass., and Tacoma, had no automobile deaths at all during the four weeks' period last covered by the report.

Among the cities where automobile fatalities showed an increase during the four weeks ending July 18, Bridgeport with 25 deaths; St. Louis, 24; Cleveland, 20; Baltimore, 16; Cincinnati, 12, and Cambridge, 10.

$409 RECOVERED AND TWO SUSPECTS IN BURGLARY HELD

Dr. W. J. Taylor, head of the Taylor pharmacy, 306 Washington street, Monday was high in his praise of Detective E. W. Ginn for the efficient manner in which he conducted his investigation of the robbery of Dick Frazier in his store Sunday night when $404 in currency and checks were stolen.

Of this amount $409 was recovered by Ginn following a Monday morning of two negro employees of Dr. Taylor's store, and according to the officer, he obtained a confession from one of the men, Dick Frazier, who lives in the rear of 93 East Georgia avenue, and John Lee, of 280 Beckwith street.

NOTED MEDIUM PASSES CHALLENGE OF HANDCUFF KING

Toledo, Ohio, August 3.—Ada Besinet, Toledo medium and psychic, indicated today that she would ignore a challenge for $10,000 for three seances made to her by Houdini, the magician and handcuff king. Miss Besinet is internationally known.

Houdini's challenge was made known in a letter today. The $10,000 would be given to charity under the terms of Houdini's challenge. The magician guaranteed to meet Miss Besinet in "every manifestation" or forfeit the $10,000.

Miss Besinet said Houdini's letter was one of a series which she has received during the last few months. She had not acknowledged any of the letters, she said.

WORK OF DEMOLISHING "BOTTLENECK" BEGINS

Start of work on demolishing the building at the southeast corner of Edgewood avenue and Pryor street, now occupied by the Harbor smokestack, Monday marked "the beginning of the end" of the bottleneck which the city has been attempting to eliminate for more than 35 years.

A building permit was issued Monday to the Griffin Construction company. The work is expected to take about six weeks.

The triangular piece of property was purchased by the city last week from the heirs of the Austell estate for $35,990.

MRS. BELLE A. COOK DIES IN MONTREAL

Mrs. Belle A. Cook, 69, of Atlanta, died Monday afternoon at her summer home in Montreal, N. C. Mrs. Cook was the widow of the late Ira W. Cook.

Funeral services were held in Montreal but the body will be brought here for interment in Oakland. Services will be held at the graveside at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Cook is survived by a son, Howard B. Cook, of Charlottesville, Va.; a daughter, Miss Ethel M. Cook, of Atlanta, and a sister-in-law, Mrs. John Bratton, of Atlanta.

NEW COLLECTION PLAN FOR COLLEGE AID SUCCEEDING

Announcement was made Monday at the office of the Christian Education Movement here, Dr. Elam F. Dempsey, secretary-treasurer, that "The Texas Plan" of intensive collections for the North Georgia Methodist colleges is meeting with much success.

Among others, Rev. G. M. Eakes, pastor of First church, Decatur, is actively promoting this interest in his church. The educational committee and H. B. Adams, the church collector, are making preparations for an every-member canvass about the first of September.

Rev. G. F. Venable, pastor of First Methodist church, Monroe, Ga., is sponsoring addresses on Christian education by Dr. E. N. Fendley, Emory university, and other notable ministers and he and his educational committee are actively at work.

Many remittances are coming to Dr. Dempsey's office. An Atlanta subscriber, a friend of Emory university, paid $400 at once when he learned that Emory would receive it. From Miami, Florida, another Emory supporter sent $50, paying in full. A third Emory patron, came to the office upon returning from Arkansas and paid $125, getting his cancelled card.

Dr. Dempsey is continuing his sermon on "Education That Educates" in Atlanta. Sunday morning he was at Center street and that night at St. John, using as themes "The Excellent Glory of Endowments," and "The Importance of Going to College," respectively. Wednesday night he will preach at Lakewood Heights, the Rev. H. M. Quillian, pastor. His theme will be "Youth Can Not Wait."

COUNCIL MEMBERS FORGET DIGNITY AT MELON FEAST

Members of city council discarded their dignity following a regular meeting of council Monday afternoon, and devoted their entire attention to consuming food and drink.

Two dozen watermelons raised at the city dairy farm near the federal prison, were served.

Watermelon cutting was promoted by Councilman Charles L. Chosewood, chairman of the prison committee of council, and was held in the committee room in the rear of the council chambers. The melons were raised by prisoners at the stockade.

Straton To Challenge Darrow To Long Series Of Evolution Debates

Asbury Park, N. J., August 3.—A challenge to a series of from 10 to 20 debates on evolution to be held throughout the country soon will be issued to Clarence Darrow by the Rev. John Roach Straton, pastor of the Central Baptist church of New York. The fundamentalist leader announced Monday.

Dr. Straton said that prominent New York men had asked him to accept the leadership of the fundamentalist forces, of which the late William Jennings Bryan was the outstanding figure, and to carry on a nationwide offensive against the teaching of evolution in tax-supported schools.

If Mr. Darrow declines the invitation, a similar invitation will be issued to Dudley Field Malone, Dr. Straton said. "An organization has been formed to carry on the battle, but I am not at liberty at this time to reveal the name of the organization or the personnel behind it."

TOBACCO SALES HIT HIGH MARK

Macon, Ga., August 3.—Tobacco sales today ran higher than any other day since the opening of the market in south Georgia last Tuesday, according to estimates obtained tonight.

Eleven markets reported a total of 342,677 pounds marketed, while the average price at these places was 18.8. No reports were available at the other 12 markets, but it is believed that the total sales for the day will exceed 500,000 pounds.

Prices were better today because of the better grades of tobacco being brought in. The drought in the early spring caused a late season and the market was opened earlier than usual.

WORK ON NEW INTAKE TO BEGIN THIS WEEK

Construction of a new intake to pump water from the Chattahoochee river will be started this week. It was announced Monday by W. Zode Smith, general manager of waterworks, following action of city council in approving transfer of water bond funds for that purpose.

Proceeds from bonds already authorized, but unsold, amounting to $212,735, will be added to the amount already in the intake appropriation, bringing the total available sum to $302,500.

The new intake is expected to pump sufficient water to provide the city's needs for many years without construction of the proposed dam and power plant.
